INTERESTED PUPILS gather in Jeff's front hall to see if any new trophies have been added to the mahogany show case.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors—we are the student body at Jefferson High School. Each of us has different interests, abilities, and goals; yet, each of us benefits from the scope of studies, organizations, activities, and sports at JHS.

Our academic department prepares both pupils who are college-bound and those who will continue in the commercial and industrial arts fields; our organizations introduce their members to civic services and social activities; pep sessions, dances, and convocations supply fun, without books, to the high school routine; our football and basketball teams draw city and statewide attention.

Thus, as we admire the showcase donated by the class of 1960, we extend our belief that

Orators, Journalists Rate Top Awards

HURRYING to meet the Booster deadline, Sharon Breedon types the final copy of her news story.

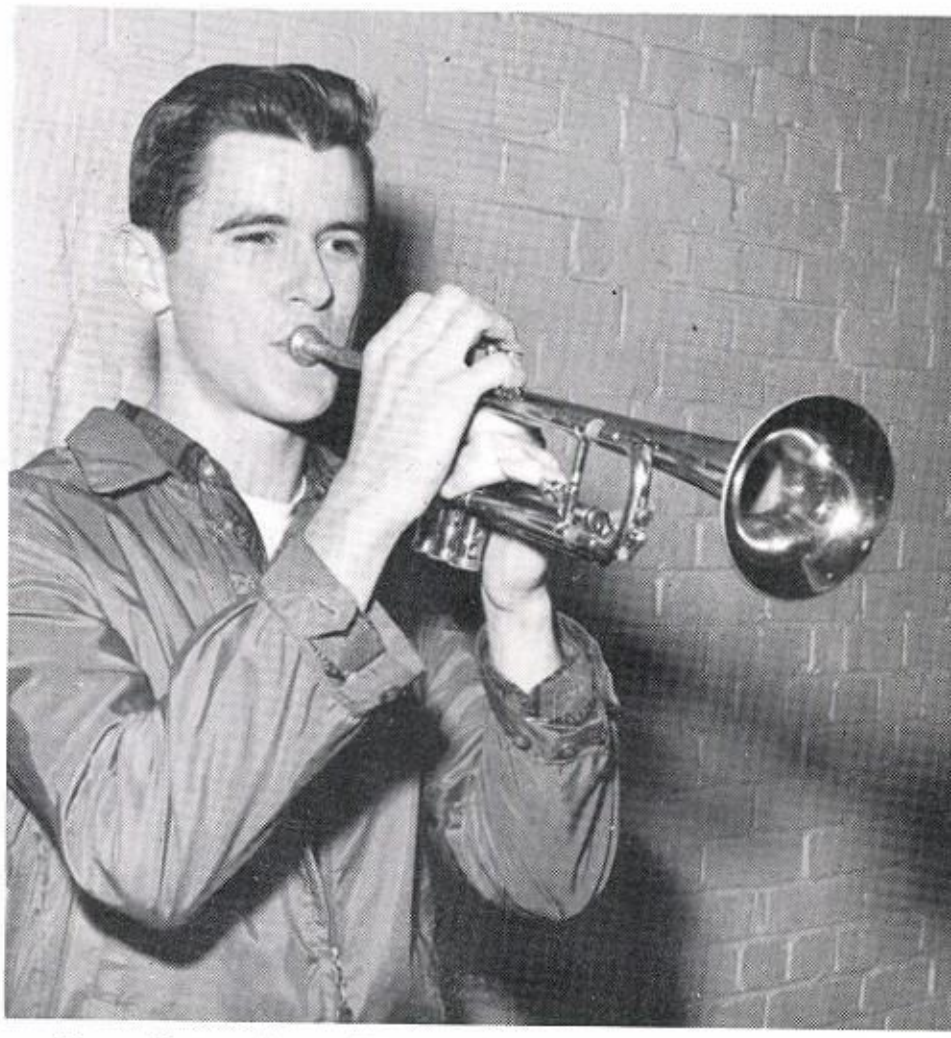
CALLING THE MEETINGS to order is only one of the duties of the Key Club President Dick Zimmerman.

Classes End at Three, But Activities,

THE SECRET FORMULA being tested by Jack Walkey may react favorably or even explode when heated.



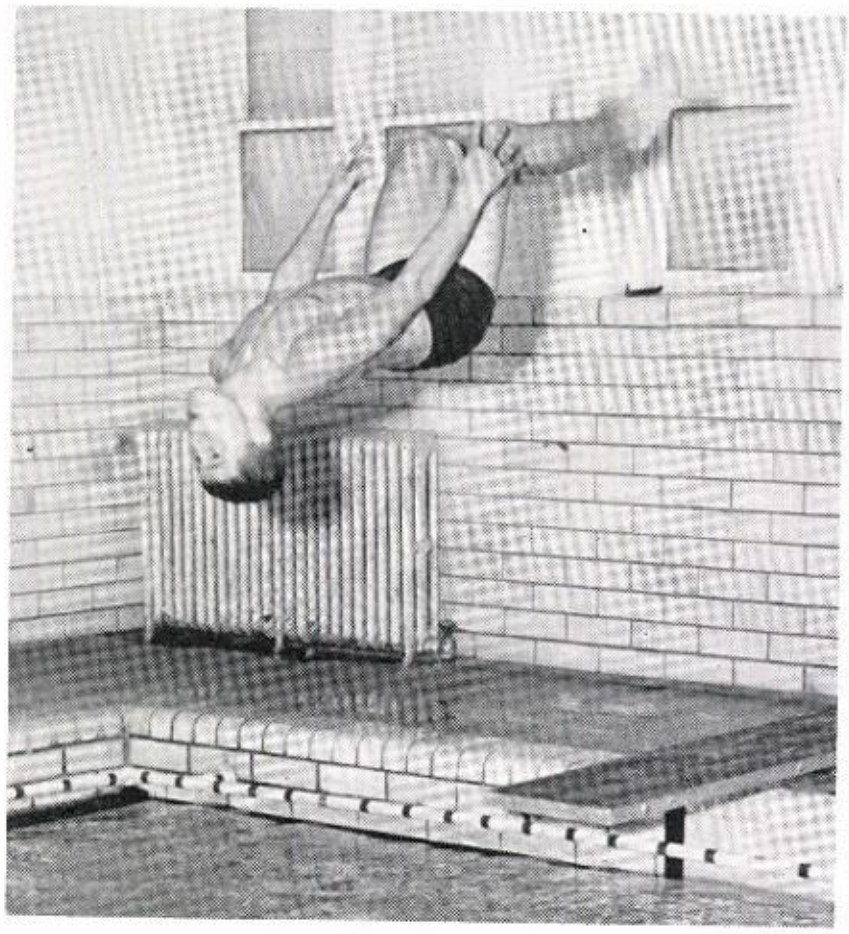
SOLO DANCE BAND PLAYER Terry Fagin must work his cornet practicing in with his studies.

HAROLD MORROW runs cross-country after school.

Practices, and Make-Up Work Never Cease

J. A. Is SERIOUS WORK for John Sharp and Larry Beall.

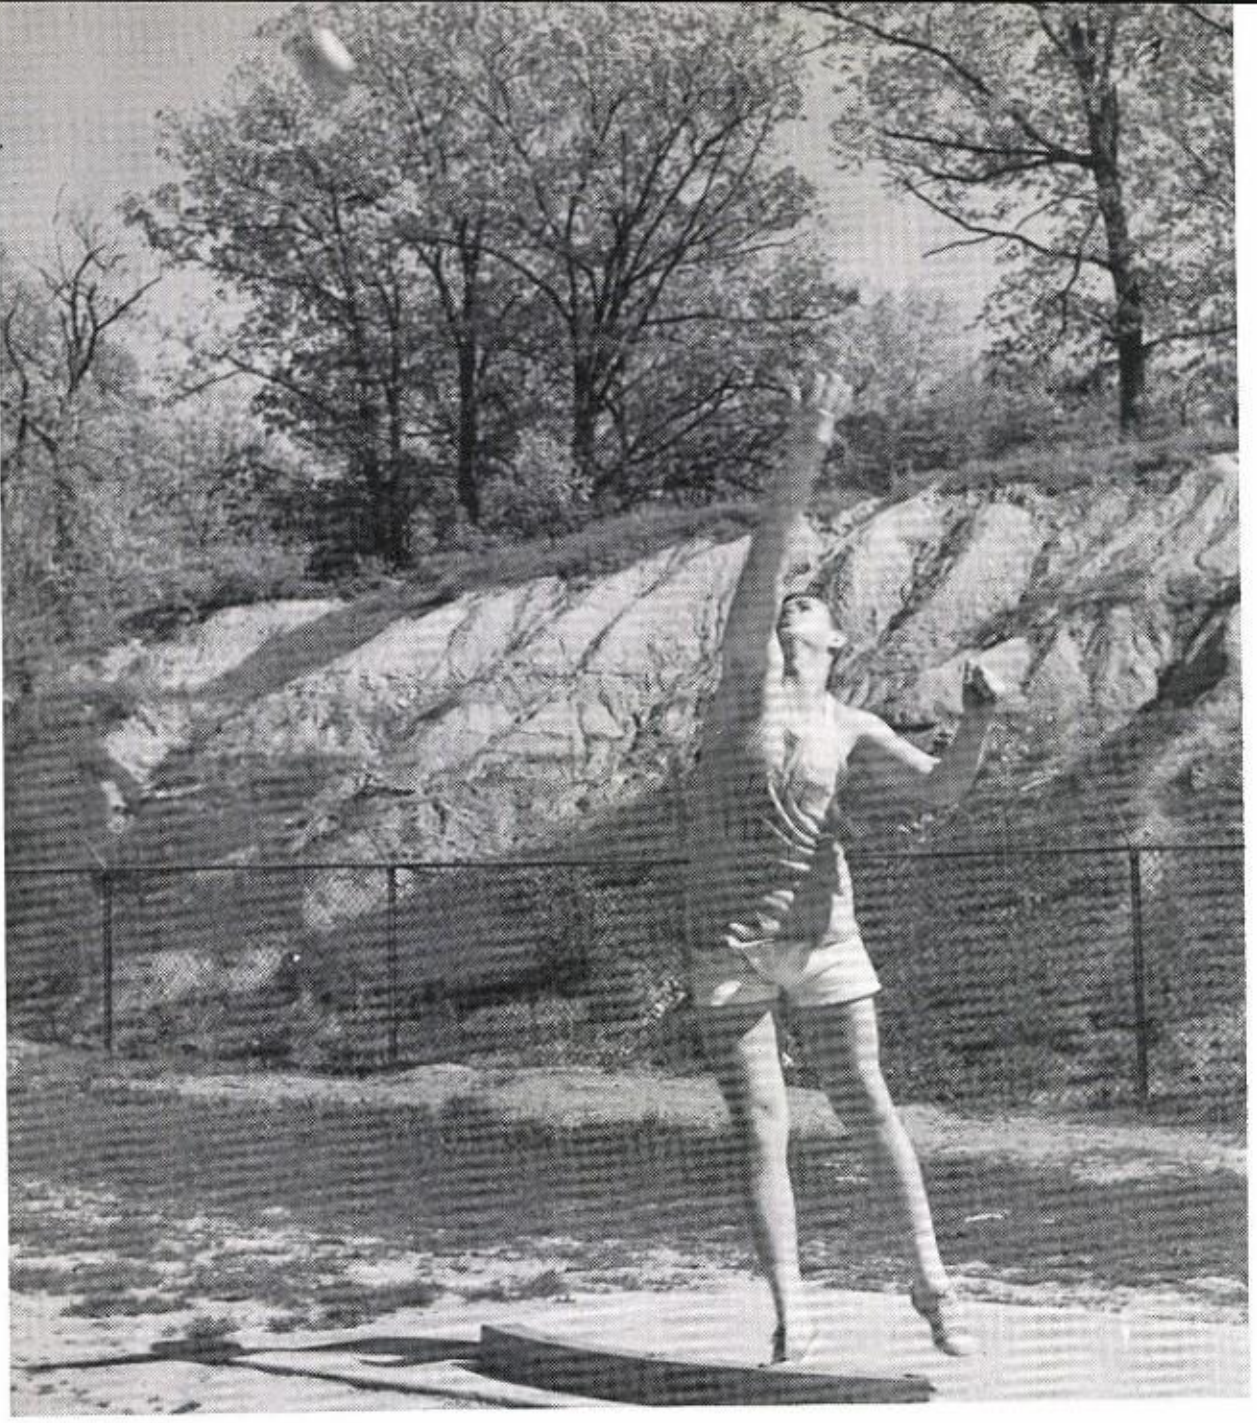
Hobbies Supply Variation to Routine



RELAXATION? Leslie Kimbrell practices his favorite hobby, that of swimming and trick diving.

DAVID DYER'S SURPRISE FLASH caught Carolyn Fleischhauer, Mr. Andrews, and Ginny Gould working on the yearbook.

AN OFFICE JOB is the desired position of Vicki Jennings.

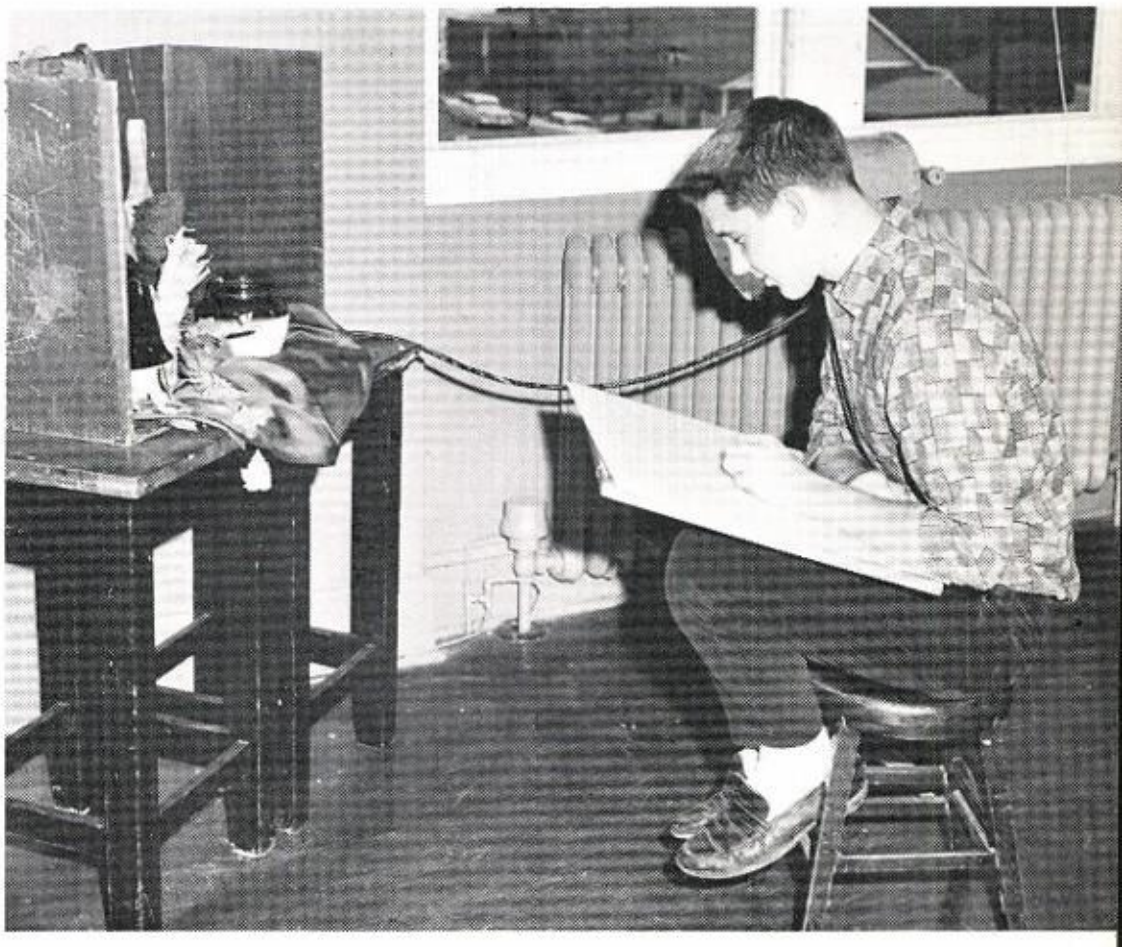


THE MIGHTY THRUST needed to fling a shot put was perfected by Ron Taylor after many weeks of training.

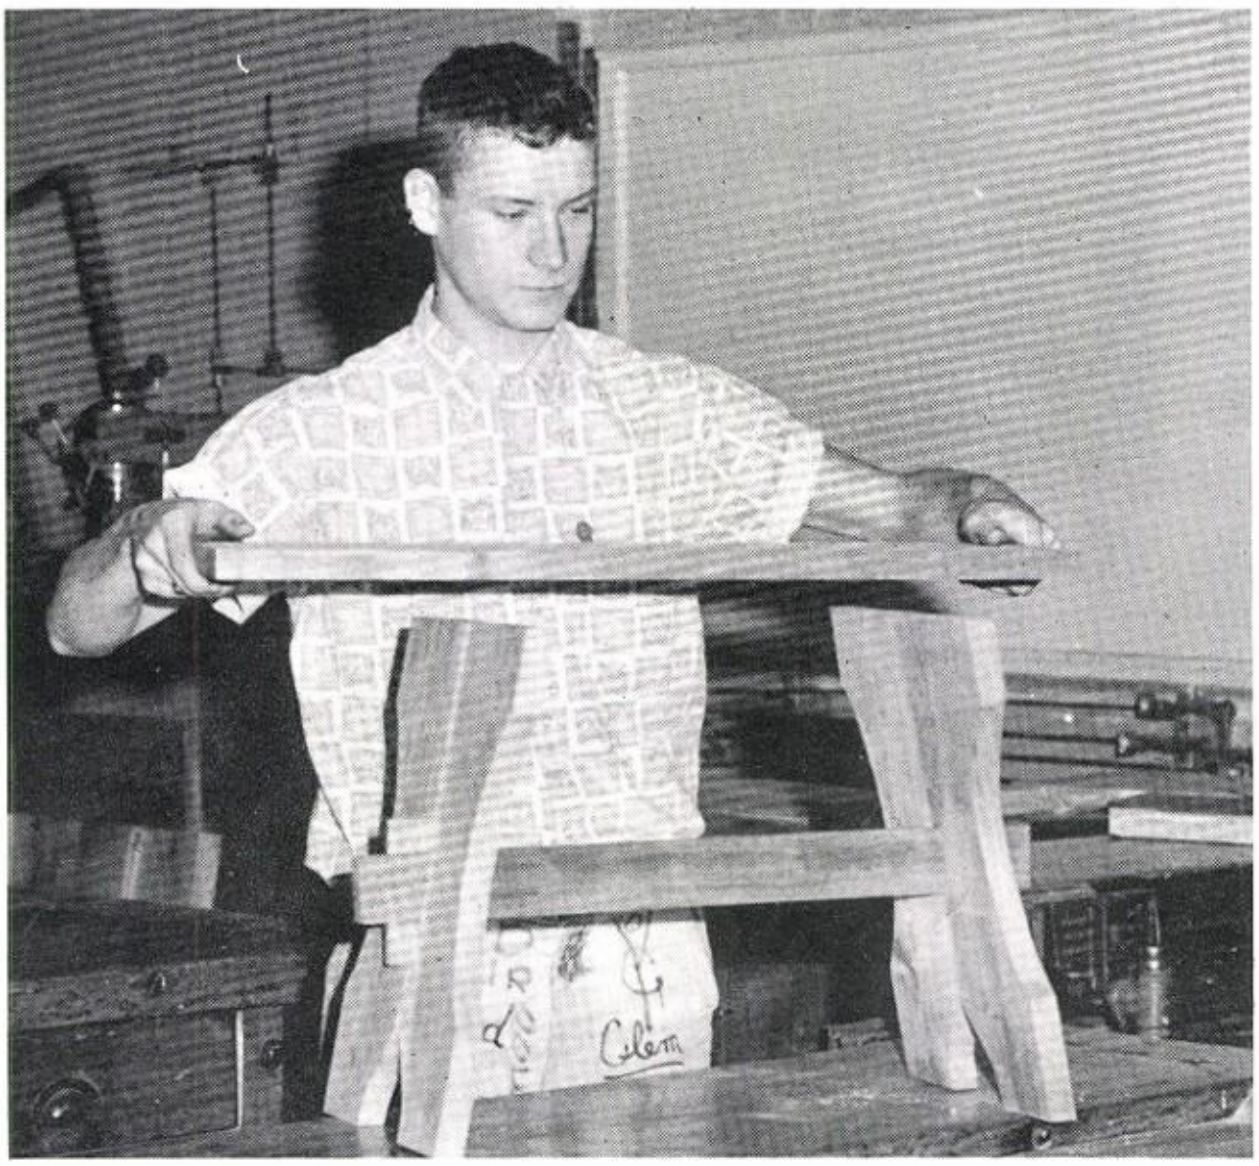
LET'S GO, BRONCHOS! Judy VonSeggern, Janet Beckstrand, Lynn Mason, and Sharon Jones lead the Bronchos onto the floor.

Each Pupil Takes Pride in his own Talent

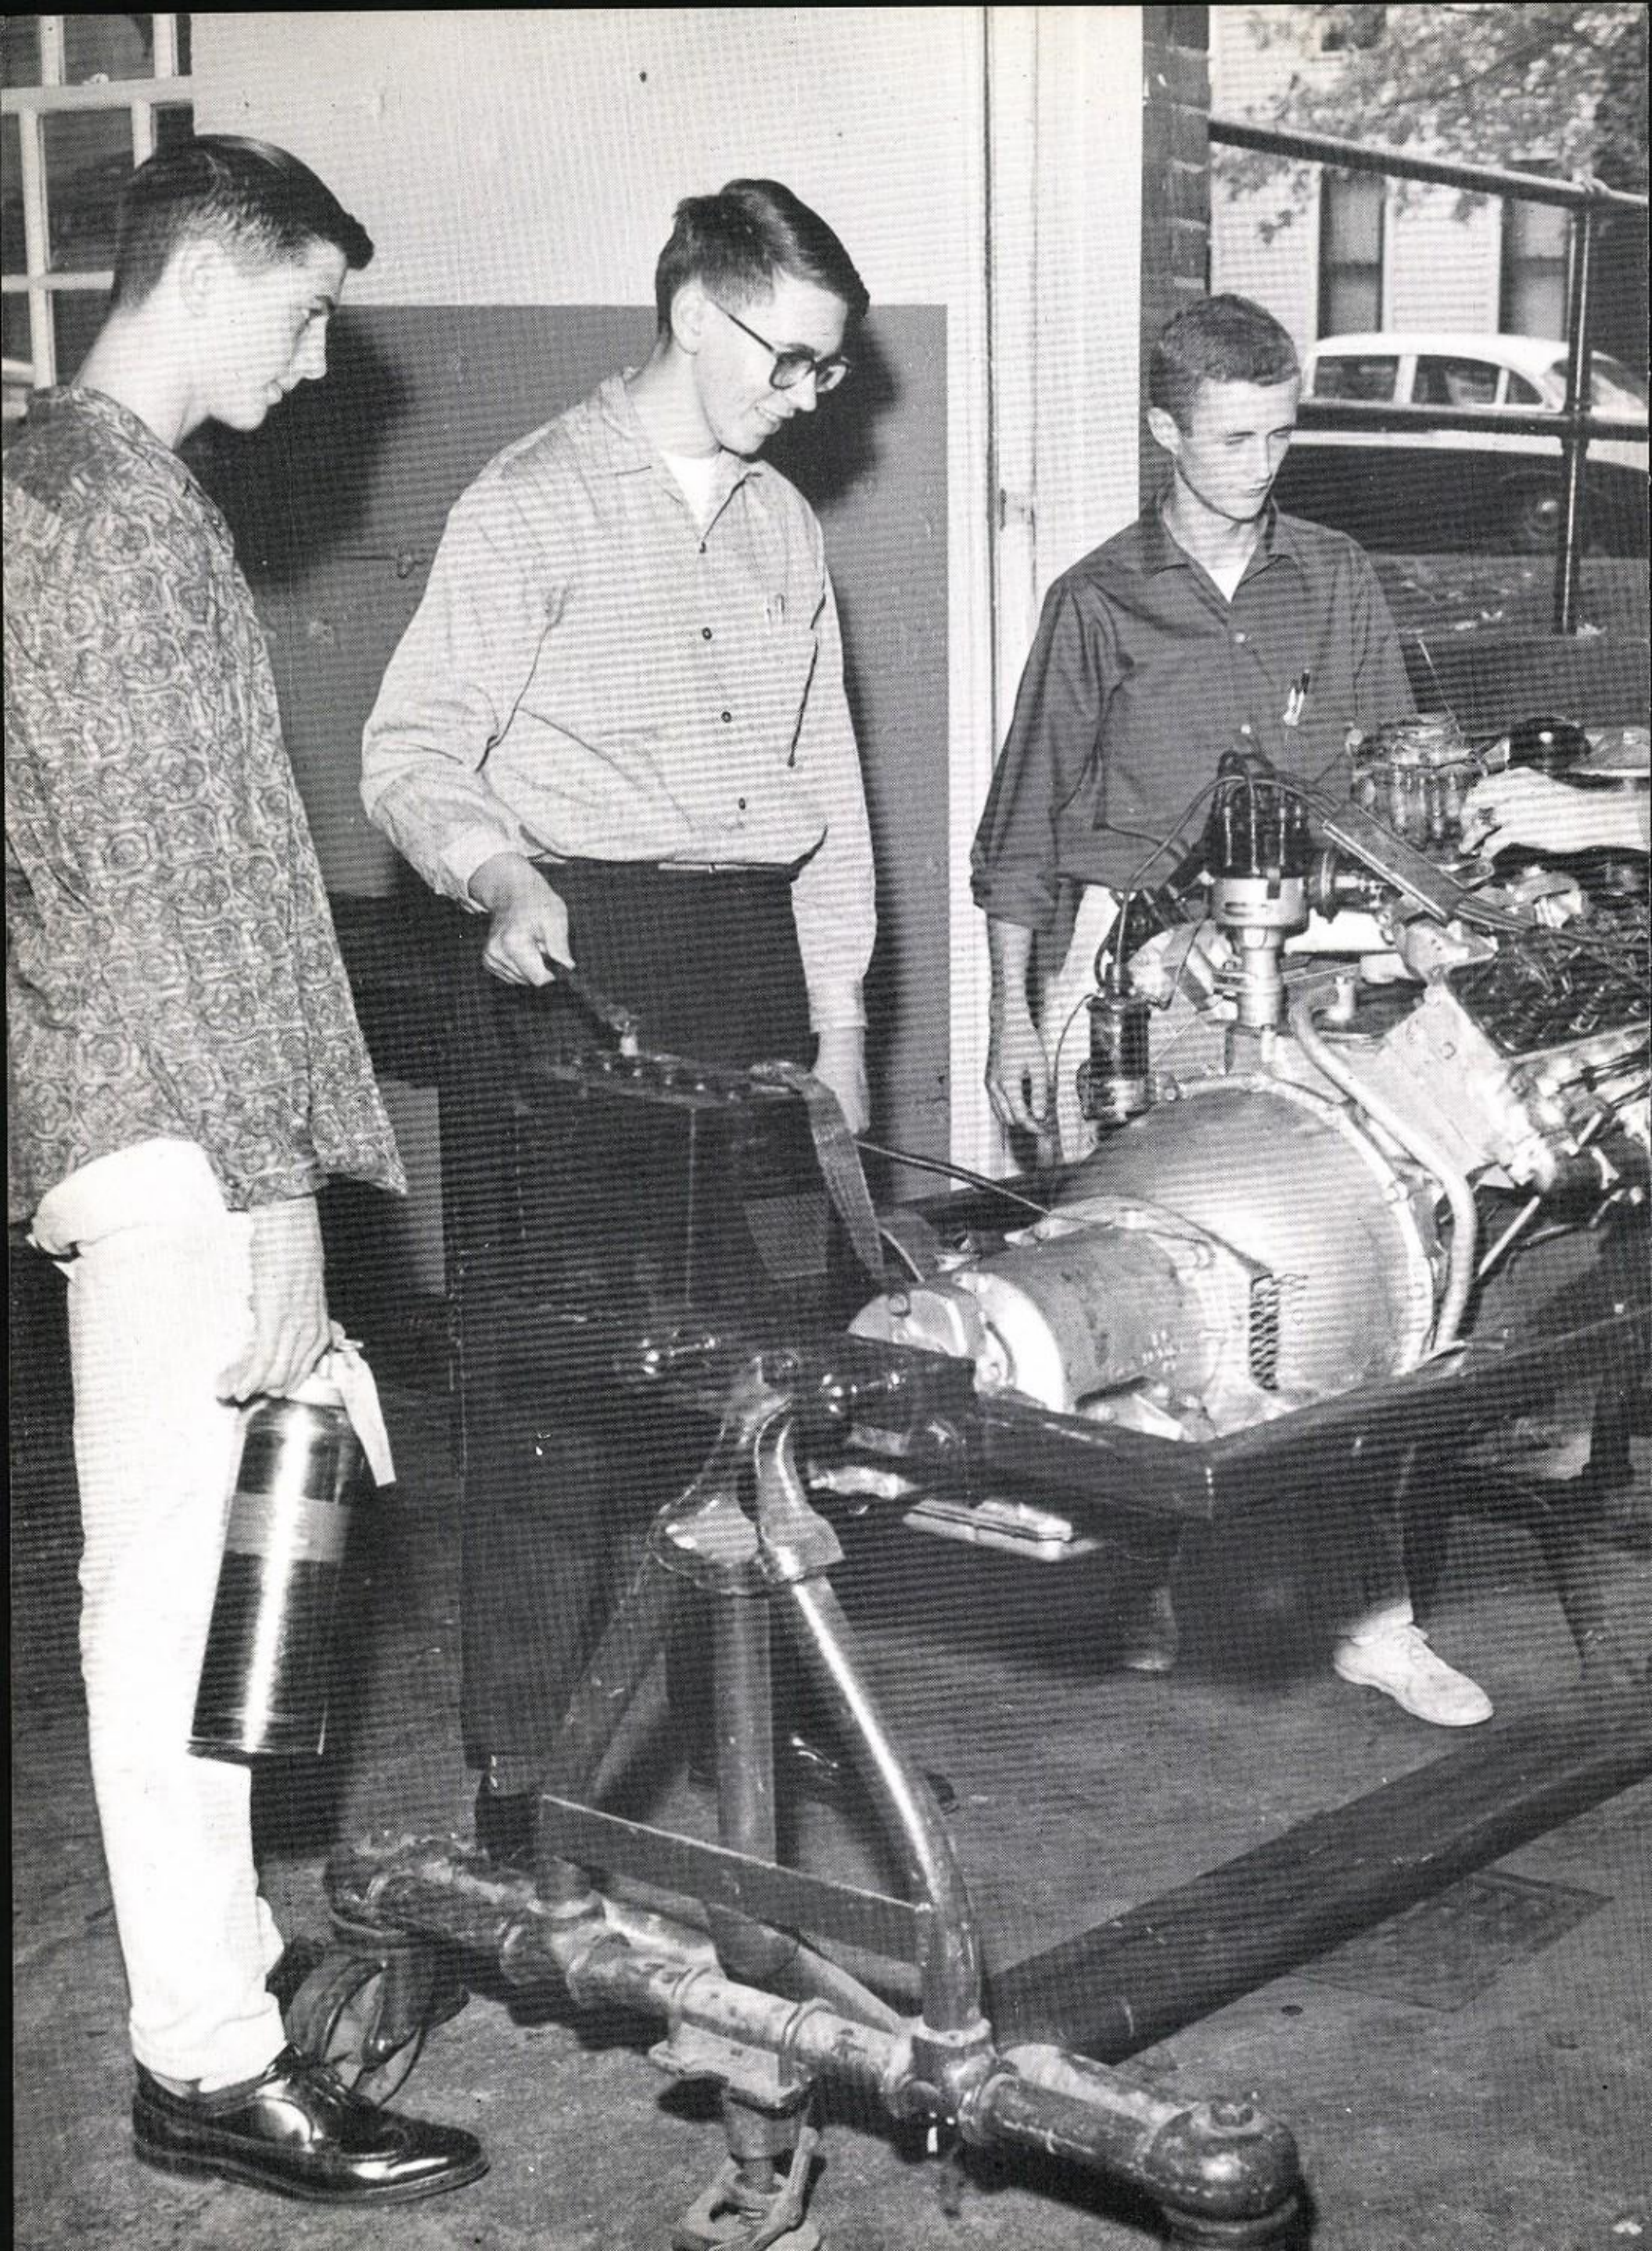
MADONNA HERAD gives Julie Fife and Judy Warren a few of her hints to successful sewing.

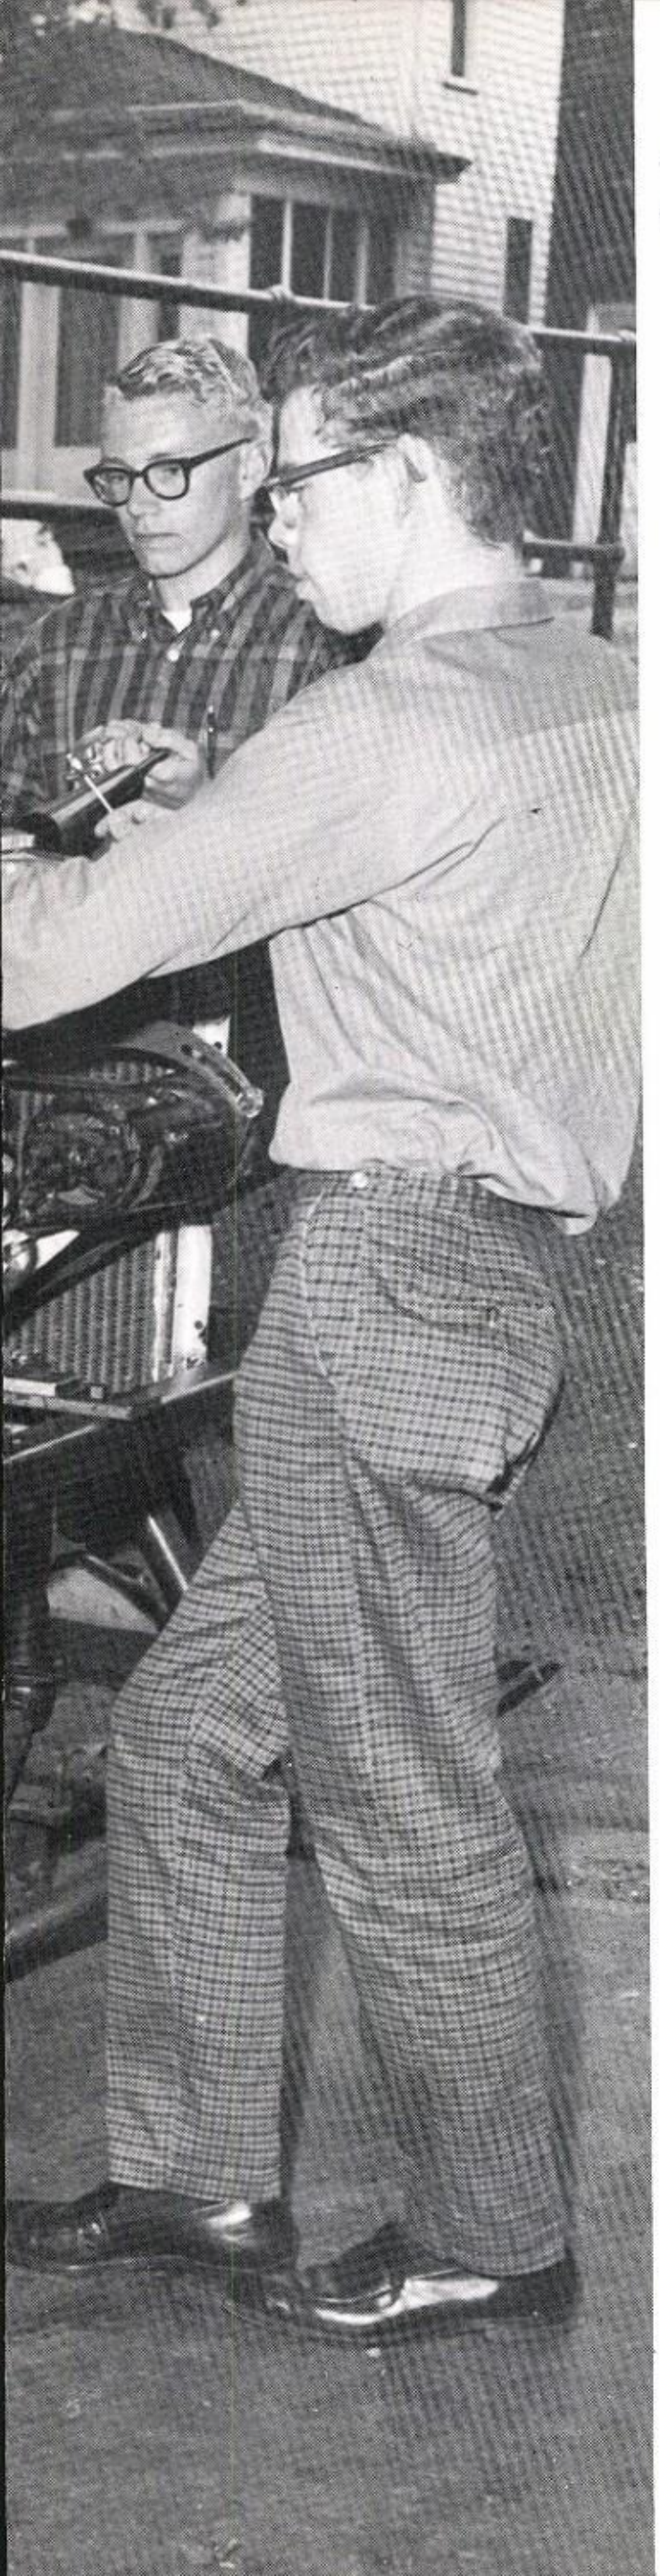


BILL MOORHOUS transposes on canvas an arrangement of fall decorations.



FLOYD MCDOLE adds the finishing touch to his masterpiece after many hours of sanding and varnishing.





To maintain the special first-class state rating which JHS received in 1961 is the main goal of our pupils and faculty. Each pupil has faced harder subjects and more responsibilities with less free time; yet each pupil is proud to say that

Scientists Probe into Nature's Secrets;

PHYSICISTS AT WORK: Janet McAdams and Lynn Mason measure the acceleration of a car.

Since the first artificial satellites were orbited, great emphasis has been placed on science. Many students utilize the facilities of Jeff's science department.

Realizing that today's most dramatic discoveries—from television to atomic power—originate in physics labs, students learn to be thorough and accurate.

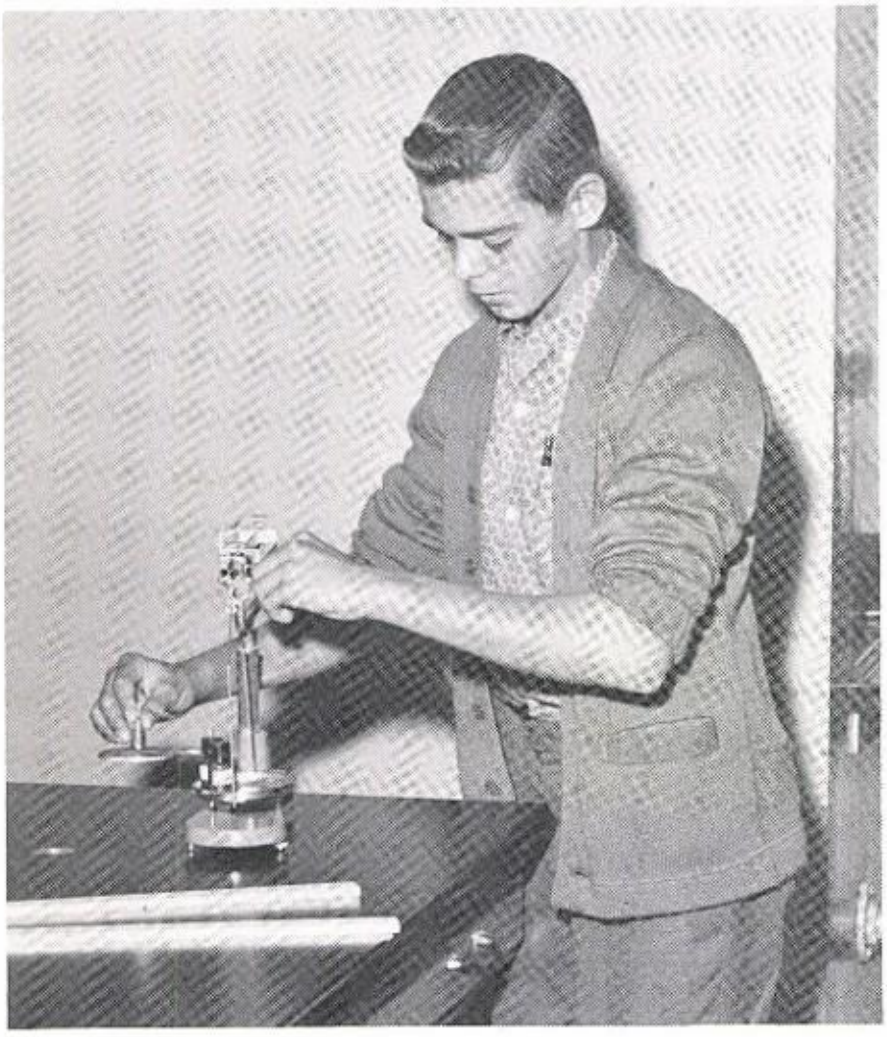
Chemistry students learn symbols and valences. Through analysis and research information concerning matter is gained.

Special Science is offered to those students who excell in mathematics and science. Physical science is studied by pupils interested in a general course.

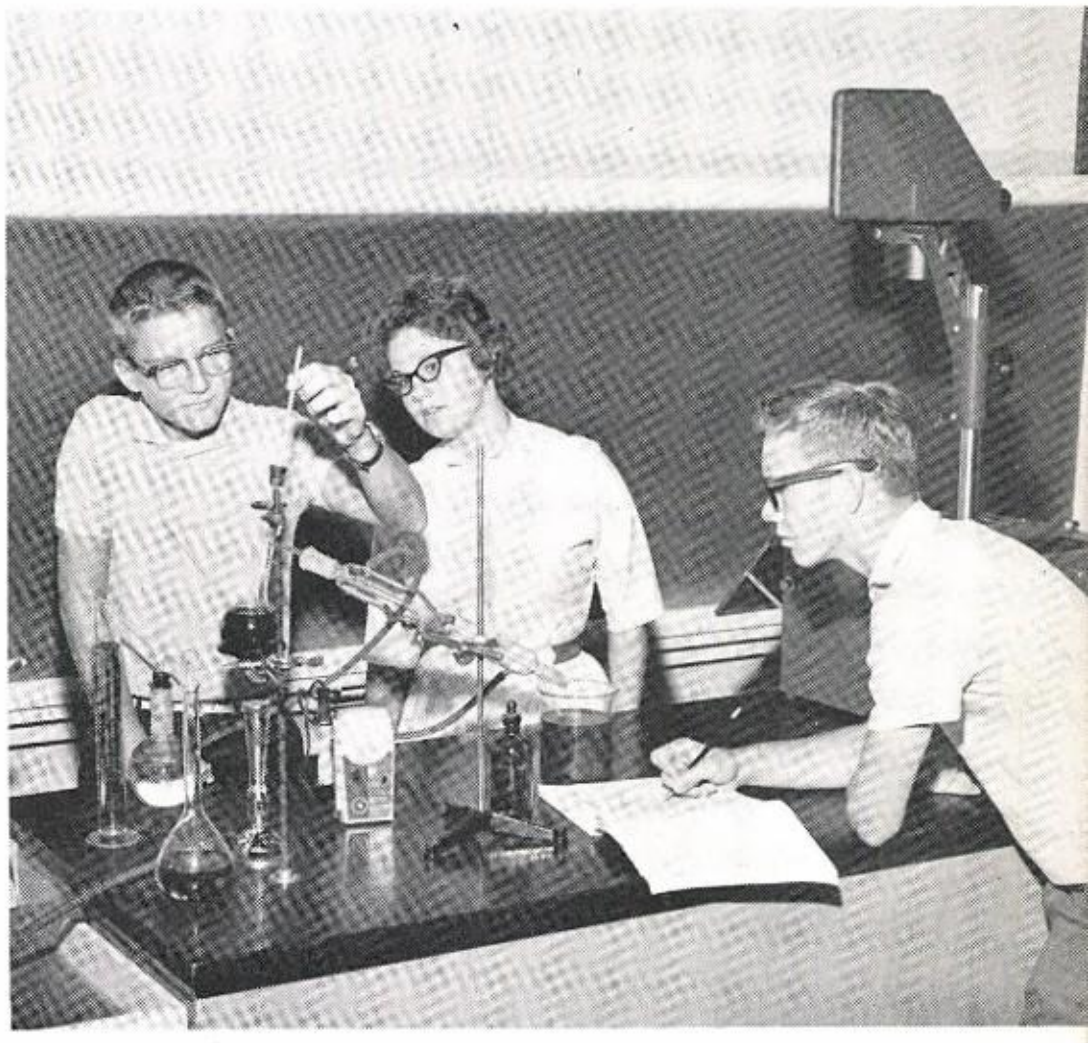
Armed with new textbooks and remodeled laboratories, biology teachers present an accurate study of plants and animals. Trips, experiments, and discussions enable students to attain a thorough body of knowledge in biology.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS trace the different shapes of protozoa by first observing them through microscopes.

Learn the Facts through Lab Experiments



PRECISION is an important factor in science. George Yoakum weighs a solution with balanced scales.



PERFORMING AND RECORDING an experiment are Charles Levell, Laurie Bailey and Dean Godbey.

LAB PARTNERS, Harley Butler, Janet Beckstrand, Bill Crook, and Elaine Campbell, conduct an experiment.

WHAT AN ENGLISH TEST! Denny Dewey seems confident of an "A," but Janet Hayes appears a little doubtful about her grade.

English Study Has Social Significance

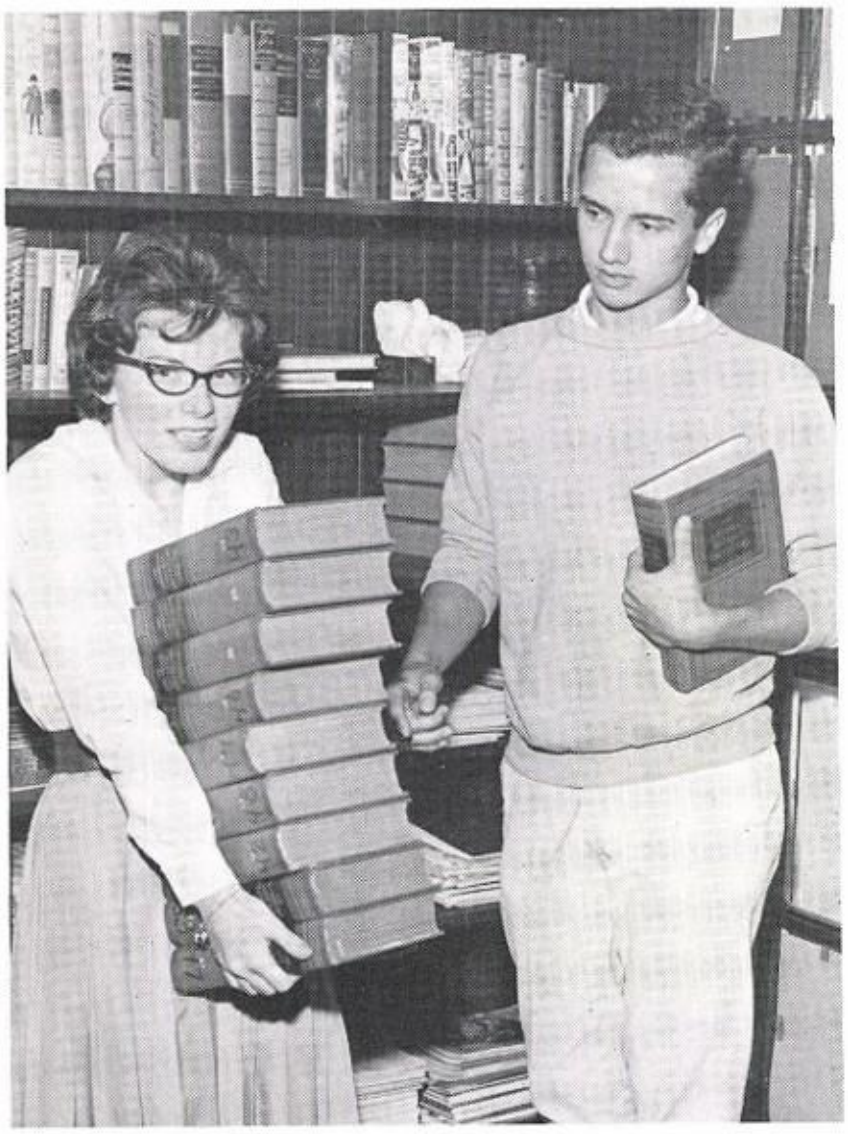
THEME ERRORS is the topic being discussed by Larry Beall and Miss Griffin.

Much about a person is learned through the language he speaks. Anytime he talks, his education, culture, origin, and environment are exposed.

To graduate from any high school in Indiana, a student is required to complete six semesters in the study of English. Jeff offers a varied curriculum in this department.

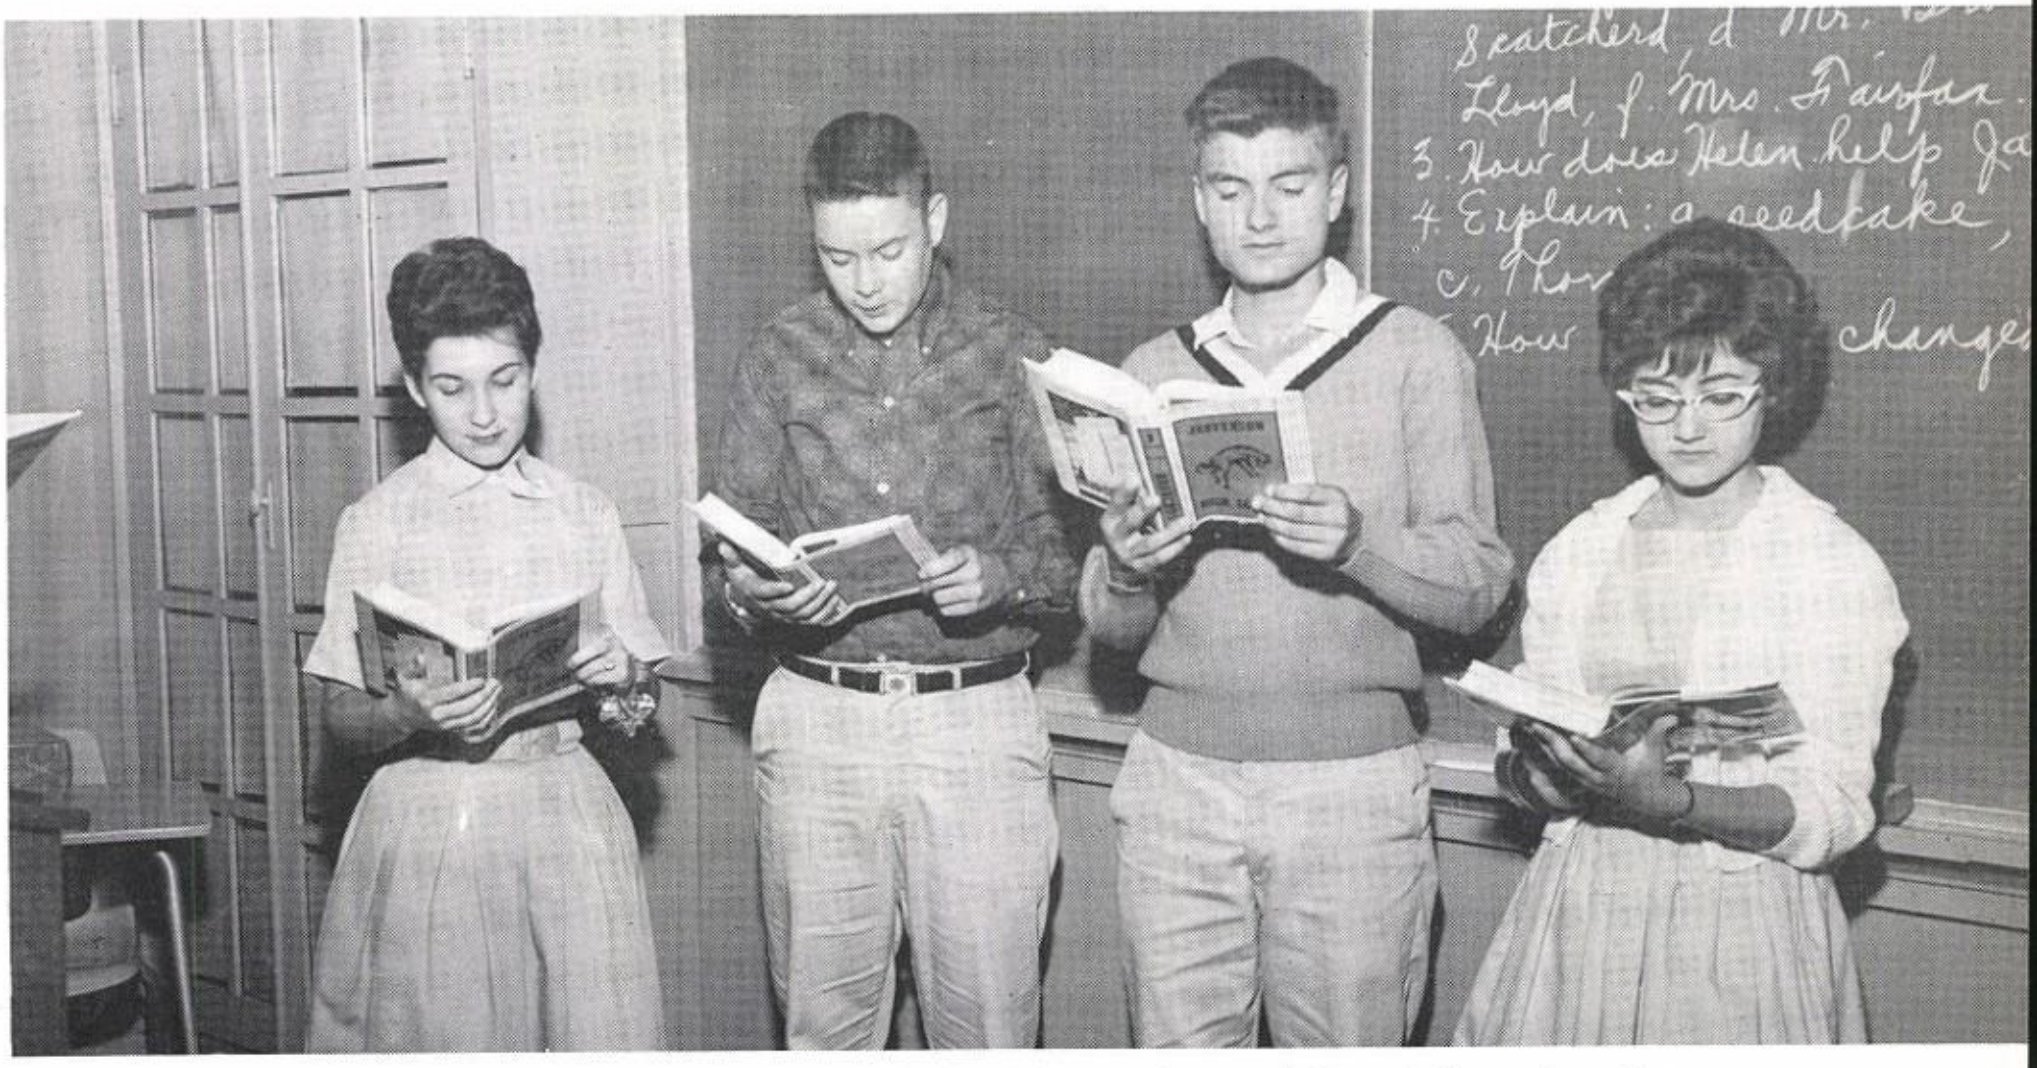
An academic student must take English grammar one semester and literature the other. The general course is a co-ordinated program of literature and writing.

Seniors may elect Composition I and II, which are courses designed to prepare the student for success in college writing. Creative Writing is an advanced course available to those students who are more than routinely interested in the field of writing.



NEED A LITTLE HELP? Joanne Datesh and Bob Shumate distribute dictionaries in their English-Lit class.

MRS. ADE passes out English workbooks to Steve Gott, Jim Baker, and Kay Bogan.



ROBERTA PRESTON, Gregg Todd, Alan Traenkner, and Judy Williams rehearse their parts for a class play.

Pupils Refine Speaking Abilities

The Jeff speech department helps pupils develop their natural speaking abilities by providing three different branches of study in the field of speech.

Speech development is offered to beginners who lack the confidence needed to speak with ease in public. From this class the pupil can enter Speech I, where he learns to give extemporaneous speeches and orations. Advanced speech pupils learn the parliamentary procedure and begin a study of the basic techniques of acting.

The history of dramatics from Greek performances to present theatrical plays is studied by the dramatics pupils.

The radio and TV class gives pupils actual experiences in radio broadcasting from the studio WJHS operated at Jeff.

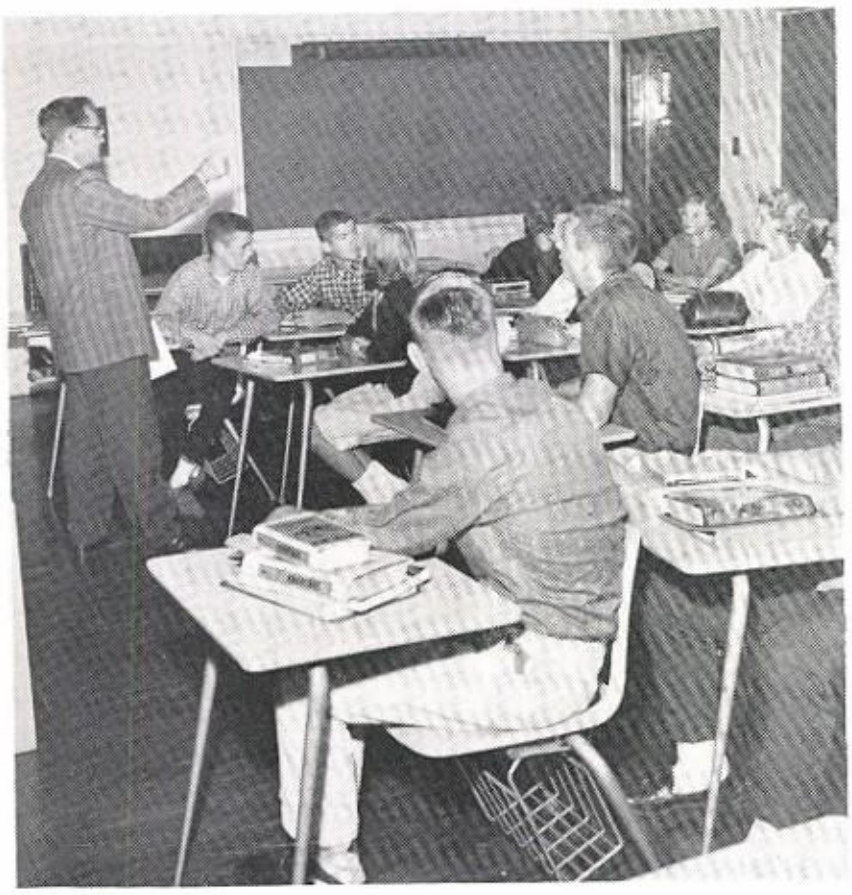
BEGINNERS' STAGE FRIGHT? Mr. Hawker shows Mike Purvis and Ann Bergsma how to relax tense muscles.

LIVE NEWS FROM JEFF! Marydell Nicewander gives Barbara Hawks her cue as Jim Stewart operates the controls.

TRANSLATING SENTENCES into Latin is the task assigned to Debby McAdams and Sandra Haddock.

"COMMENT ALLEZ-VOUS, MADEMOISELLES?" Mrs. Marguart receives a puzzling look from beginning French pupils.

Language Studies Reveal Word Origins

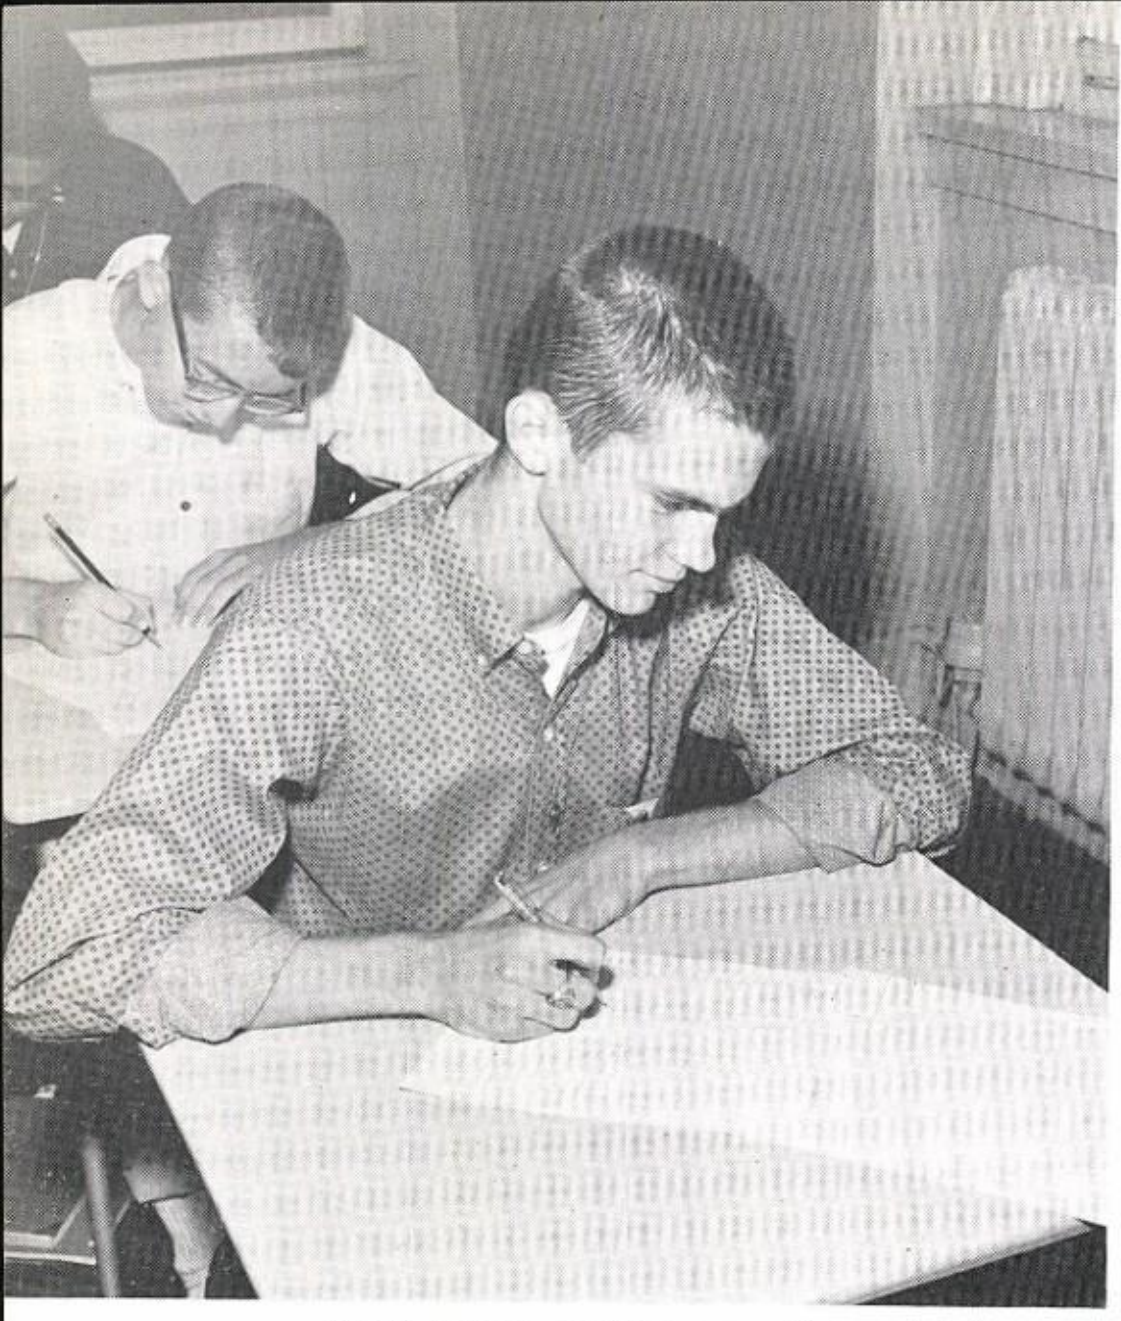


REPETITION is the technique being used in this Spanish class, instructed by Mr. McGlothlin.

Many Jeff pupils have availed themselves of the opportunity to learn a foreign language by enrolling in a French, German, Spanish, or Latin class. By becoming acquainted with the grammatical constructions of a foreign language, pupils can increase their knowledge of their native tongue.

In the modern language classes tape recorders, filmstrips, and dialogues have been used effectively. These aids have helped the pupils to learn the vocabulary and pronunciation of these languages.

A study of Latin enables the pupil to recognize English words derived from Latin. The students taking Latin compare the Romans' daily life with ours. They learn of the history of the ancient Roman world and of its effect on our modern civilization.



DATES, PEOPLE, AND HAPPENINGS that made history are facts Gary Courtney wishes he knew.

Democratic System:

Appreciation for those who built our country, fought our battles, and established our government is one of many rewards gained by the social studies pupils at Jeff. This appreciation is necessary to our nation's future leaders.

Since an understanding of the achievements and mistakes of past leaders is important to our future leaders also, all juniors are required to take U. S. History.

AN INFORMATIVE CHART is being used by Linda Traenkner and Rich Pridemore in Economics class.

Nucleus of Study

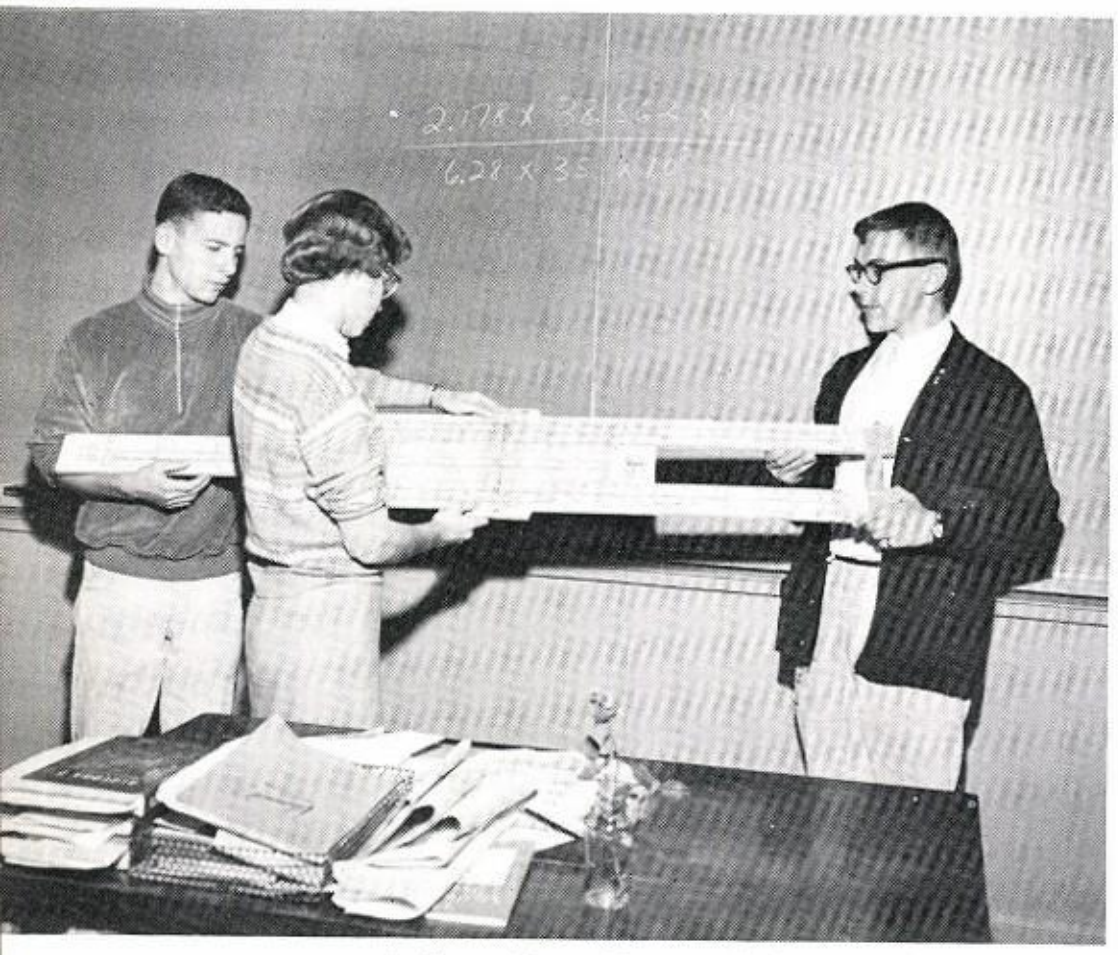
Sociology, covering the beginning and the growth of civilized society, and economics, the study of the production of wealth, are necessary for complete understanding of our complex society.

The pupils in the world problems classes study current events which make tomorrow's history and the problems in the growth of countries.

IN ELLIS HOPKINS' CLASS, Richard Seeger uses magazines and newspapers to learn about the world situation.

THE PROS AND CONS of being a secretary are explained by Marilyn Osterling to her sociology classmates.

Numbers Unfold New Meaning to Pupils



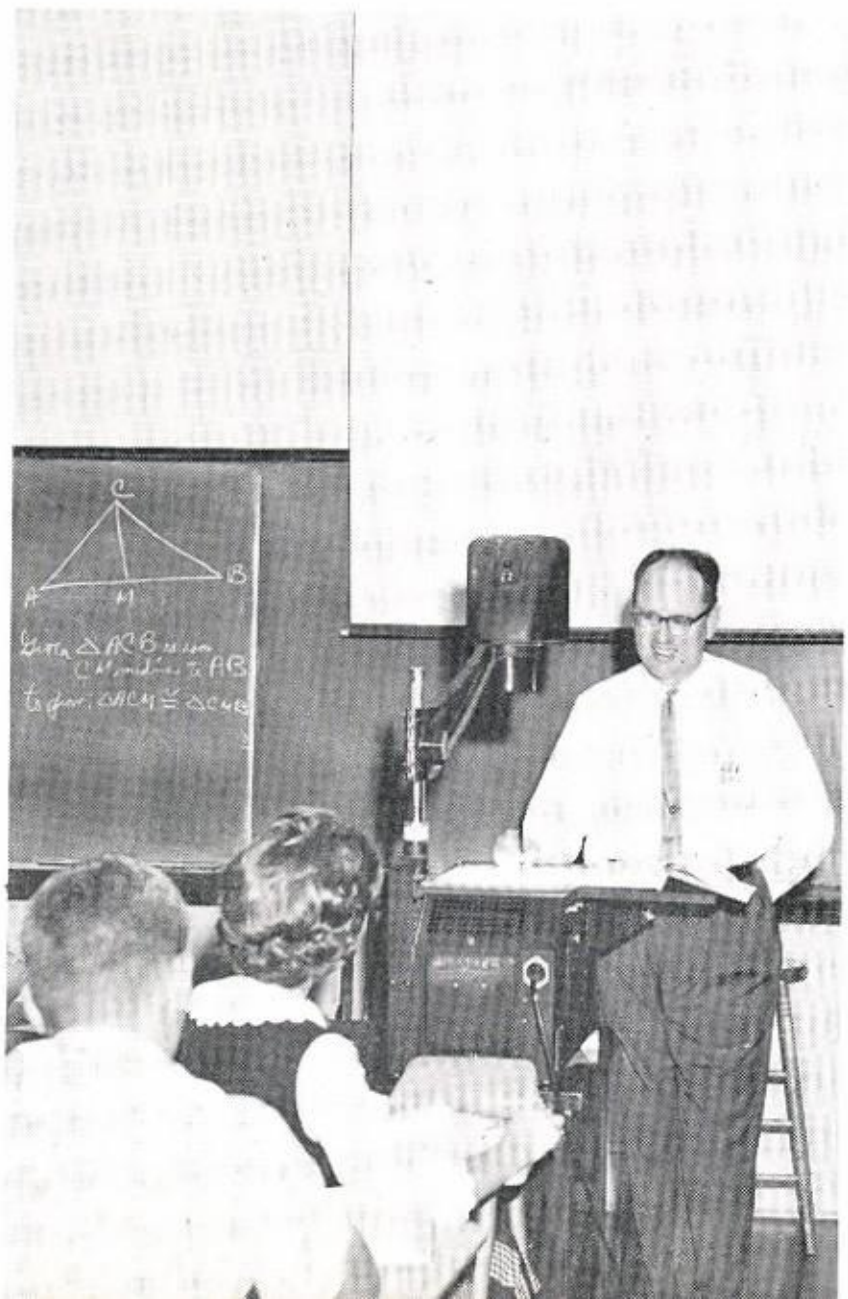
A GIANT SLIDE RULE and three miniature mathematicians, Jim Hiatt, Pam Fraker, and Bill Hicks, work a division problem.

Jeff's math department is constantly revising its curriculum to keep up with the latest developments. Every Jeff pupil can choose a math course to suit his future plans. Plane geometry, a study of two dimensional figures; advanced and college algebra, used to discover the value of an unknown number; and trigonometry, the study of triangles and related figures, are offered to the college bound pupil.

This year analytical geometry, a course which may be taken after the pupil has mastered trigonometry, was introduced.

General math is offered to pupils who feel they need more basic mathematics while all seniors who fail the senior math test as juniors must take senior math.

NEW ASPECTS of advanced algebra are being taught by Mr. Conkling via a projector.



GEOMETRY STUDENT Marilyn Warren constructs a perpendicular bisector in Mr. Leverenz's class.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS Pat Sawyer and Susie Miley assure Mrs. Lewis that the reading hint is a helpful one.

Library Arranged for Study and Reading

Whatever one's taste in books, he can find fiction and non-fiction books in Jeff's library. For those who like simply to sit and read a magazine, the library subscribes to over one hundred periodicals. To keep everyone informed of the latest news, six newspapers arrive in the library daily.

Because an early choice of an occupation is important, those who have no future plans can find help in the library's occupational file. This file contains information concerning over five hundred jobs—everything from embalming to being a cartoonist.

As almost every senior knows, Jeff's library is the best place to start hunting material for a research paper. Several sets of encyclopedias are on the shelves while dictionaries, almanacs, atlases, and other reference books are waiting to be used.

EAGER READERS Janice Vandermay and J. W. Ramsey wait for Mary Murdaugh to stamp a due date on their books.

Practice Insures Business Perfection

Jeff's commercial department offers many courses suitable for college-bound students as well as for those who plan to work in an office. Typing and shorthand, both essential for an office worker, are also beneficial to a college student. Any paper written for college looks better if it is typed, and shorthand enables a pupil to take more efficient notes.

Bookkeeping is a valuable experience for anyone planning to enter the business world. In order to understand his business every businessman needs to be able to keep his accounts accurately. Office practice, giving instruction in the use of many office machines and in business practices, is the finished touch to the other courses.

BLACK INK on the nose and fingers is the result of Pat Sawyer's efforts to change a typewriter ribbon.

BEVERLY DOWNING listens intently as Mr. Bradley assigns a lesson to the bookkeeping class.

"One, Two, Three, Four!" Regular exercise is important to sophomore boys.

Enjoyment Is Gained Via Recreation

Jump Ball! Even girls are good at basketball when they compete against one another in gym class.

Activities which offer recreation and exercise that will aid a person throughout his lifetime are taught in the physical education classes. The sophomore boys and girls learn to use their leisure time profitably by taking part in activities which help to improve muscle tone and strength and which introduce them to enjoyable sports.

The girls take part in badminton, shuffleboard, golf, and bowling. They also become acquainted with the features of modern dancing in their physical education classes.

The boys engage in the more standard athletic sports such as basketball, volleyball, football, and softball.

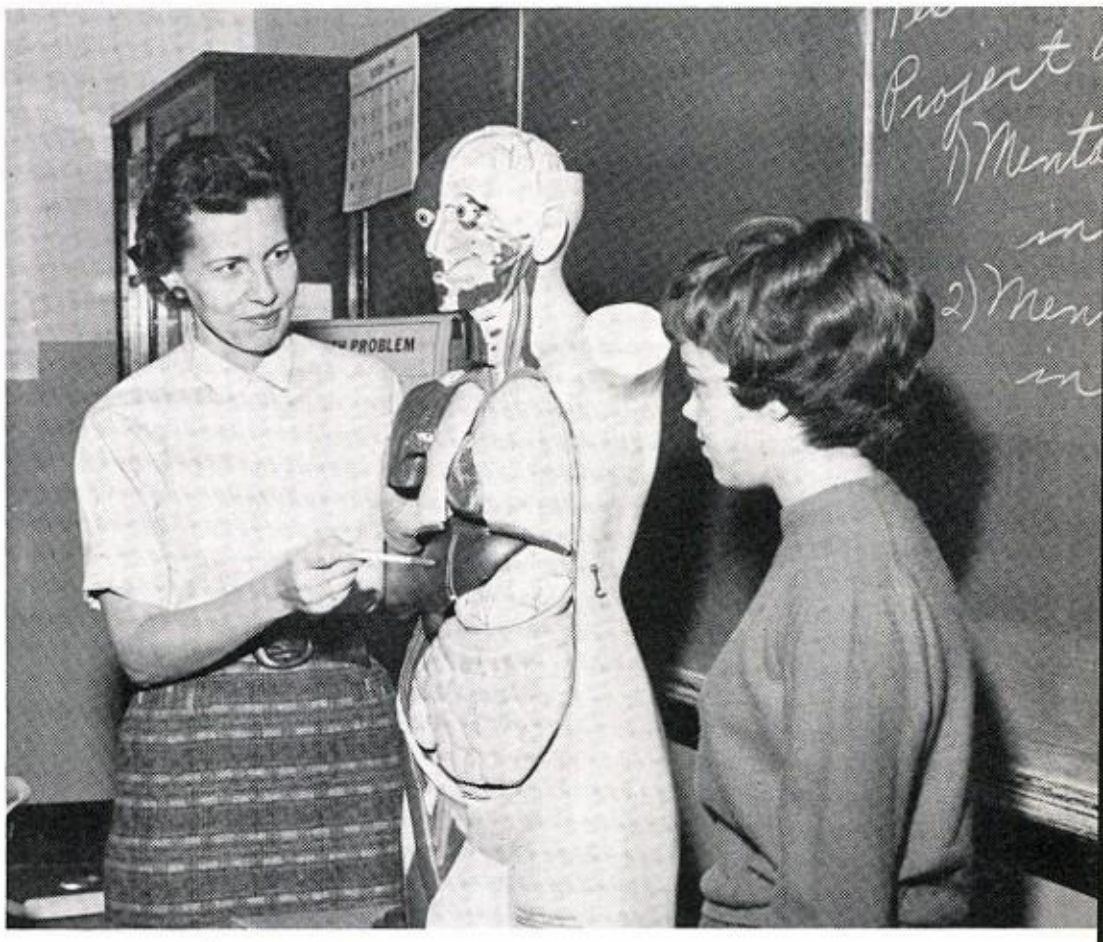
Both groups must spend one six-weeks period on body mechanics.

Health and Driver Ed Stress Safety

A year in health class acquaints the sophomore girls with grooming, etiquette, and the diseases caused by poor health habits. A day anticipated by these girls is First-Aid Day, on which the girls gain experience in treating minor injuries.

Sophomore boys take health also. Along with learning about good health habits, they study the structure of the skeleton and the functions of the human body.

Driver education at Jeff teaches pupils that courtesy on the road is important and that drivers have responsibilities to fulfill. The purpose of the course is to decrease the number of accidents by improving these pupils' driving knowledge.



SADIE, the pride of the health class, is used by Mrs. Price and Claudia Miller to study the human body.

THE MYSTERY of automobiles is explained to the driver training pupils by Mr. Willey.

FASHION MODELS, painted by John Cobb, hold the attention of interested classmates in the art class.

Artists Show Personality in Design

Modern oil paintings, sculptured figures, informative posters, vivid watercolors, and penciled sketchings are among the many creations of the art classes.

Although the paint brush is the tool most frequently associated with art, there are other tools equally important. Among these are wire, aluminum plates, wood, clay, India ink, and paints. The pupils use these materials to create figurines, designs, and sketchings.

Art is used daily for many practical purposes by everyone. A person's artistic taste is displayed when he is selecting clothes; it has been said that "Fashion is Art." Whenever a bouquet of flowers is arranged, someone is creating beauty by design and arrangement.

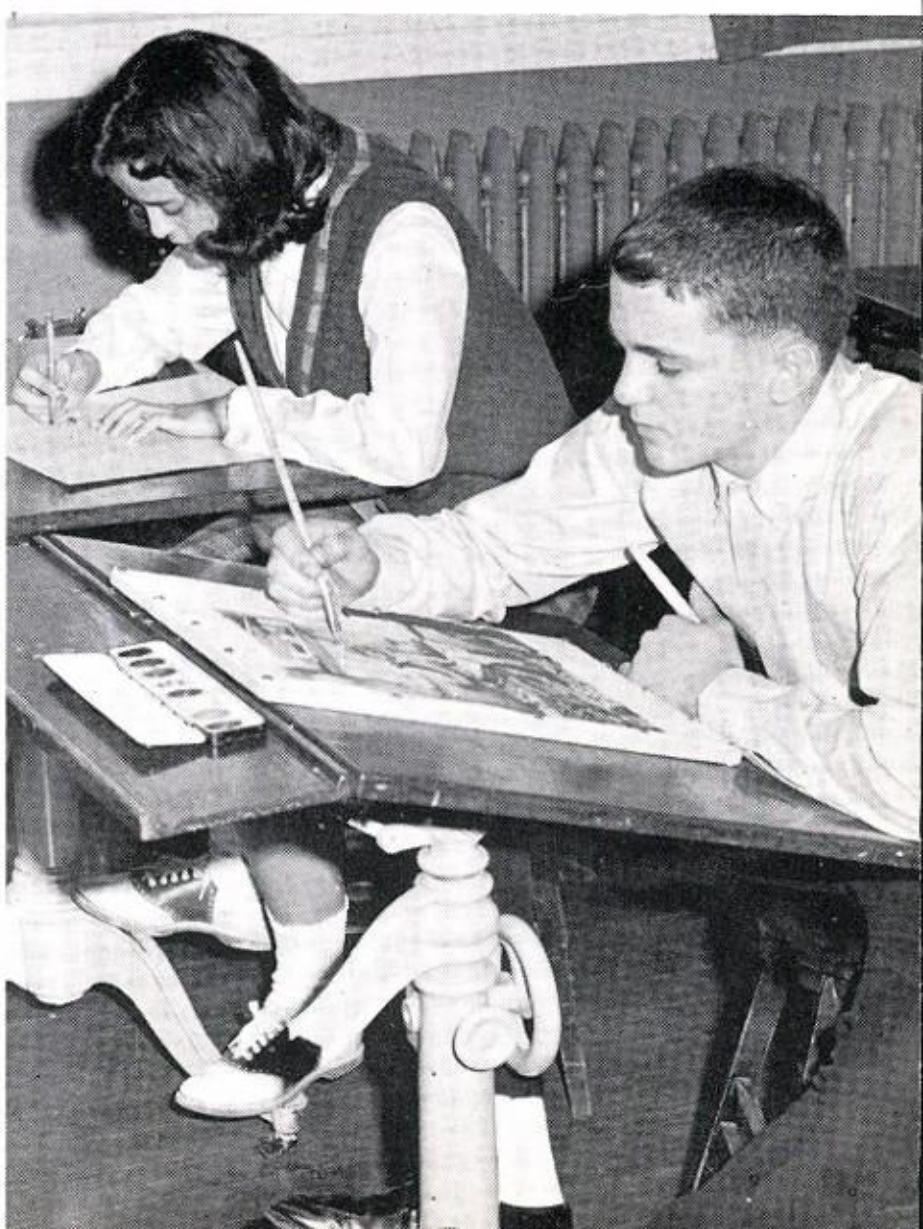
WATERCOLORS and pencil drawing are demonstrated by Patsy Dutenhaver and Sheldon Stoops.



Home Management Improved by Experience

Pupils in the home economics classes at Jeff can learn the fundamentals of cooking, sewing, and family living.

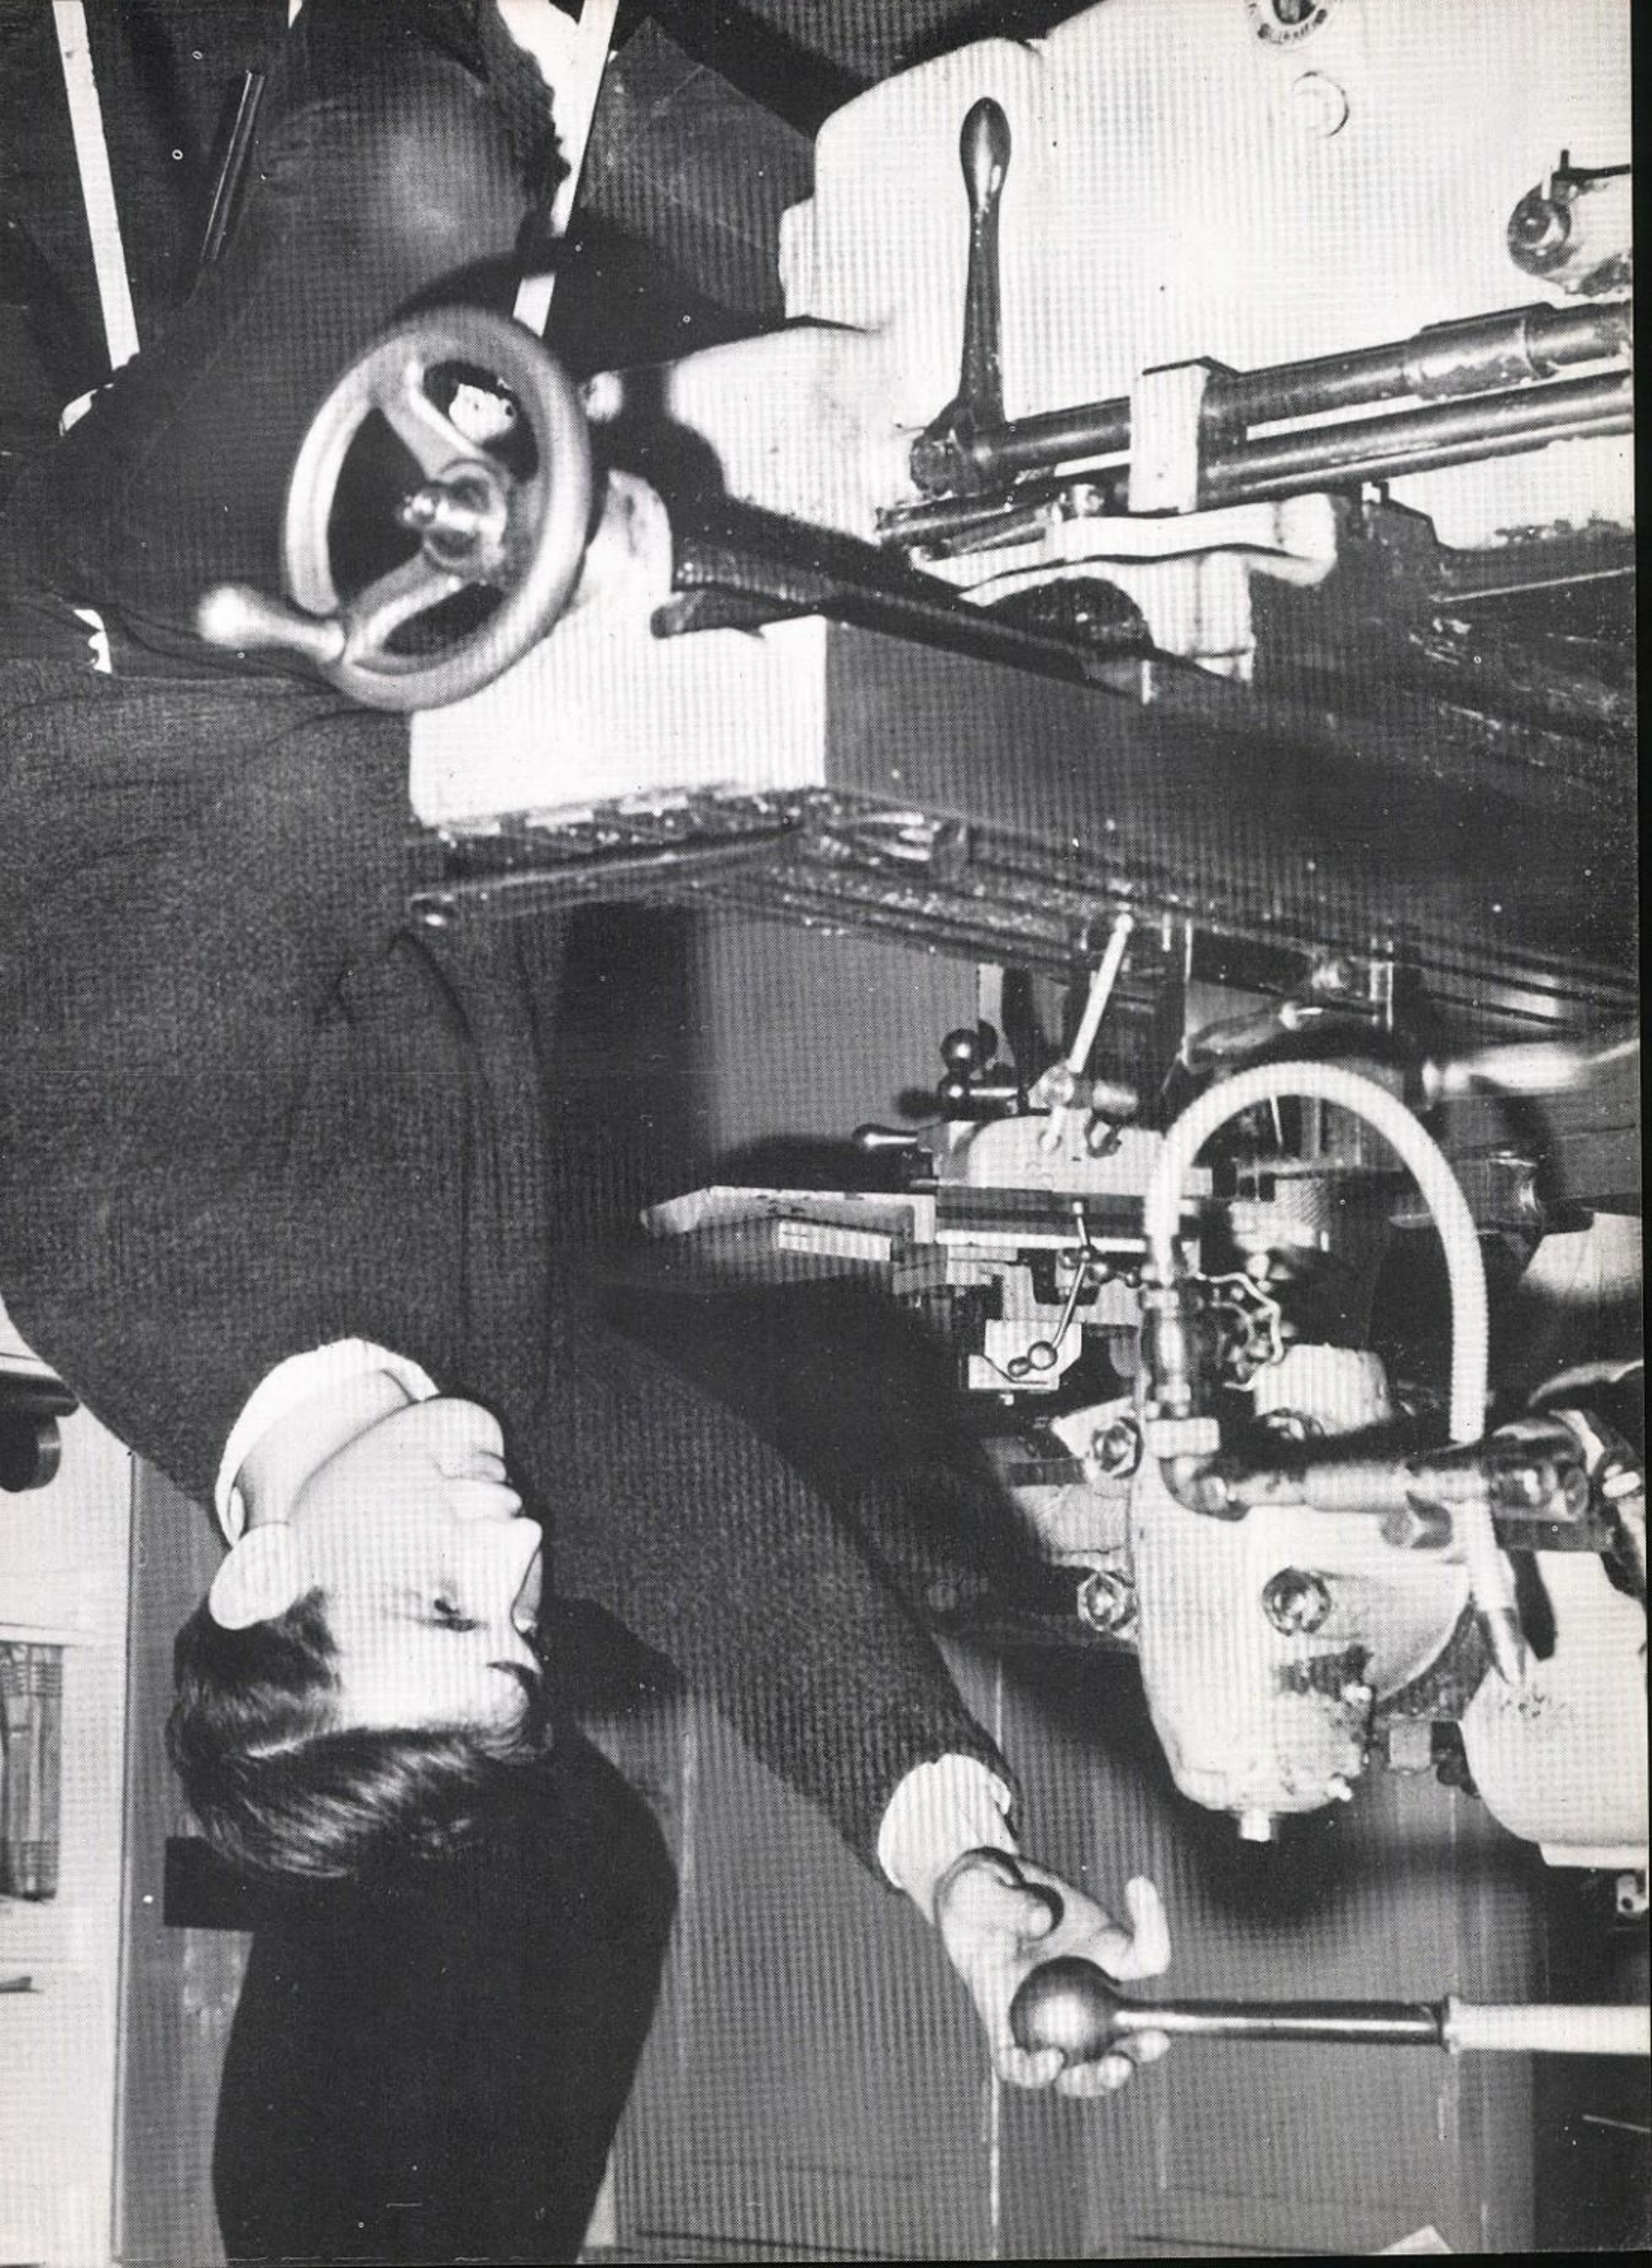
In the cooking classes a girl learns to prepare delicious meals, and the girl who is already acquainted with the use of the stove can improve her ability to cook without using mixes and frozen foods.

Any girl enrolled in the sewing department learns to operate a sewing machine. Also, she learns other basic information that will prove valuable to her if she decides to pursue a career in dressmaking.

From the course in family living pupils obtain an insight into problems they may encounter. These pupils are shown the value of making a firm marriage decision.

FAMILY LIVING STUDENTS Bonnie Robinson and Pat Wheeler show their classmates how to read a thermometer.

FELLOW CHEFS Becky Thurman, Bill Modesitt, and Peggy Hummell combine their talents to make a delicious pie.

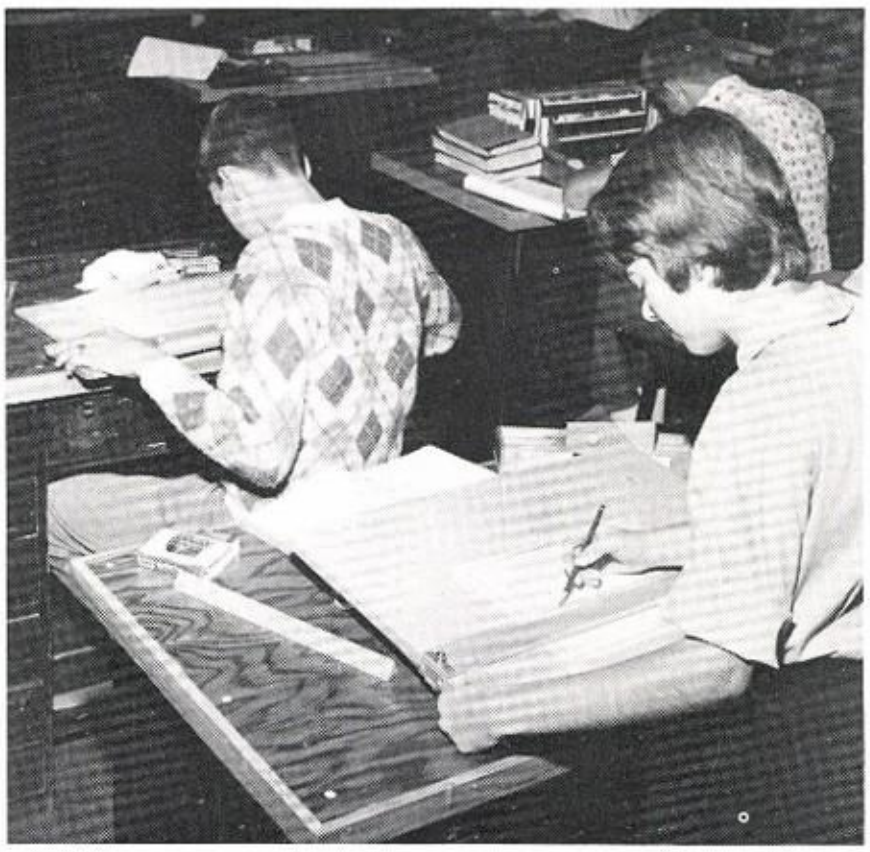


Modern Machinery Aids Manual Craftsmen

Drill presses, rulers, and typesetting machines are a few of the numerous machines used in the Manual Arts Department.

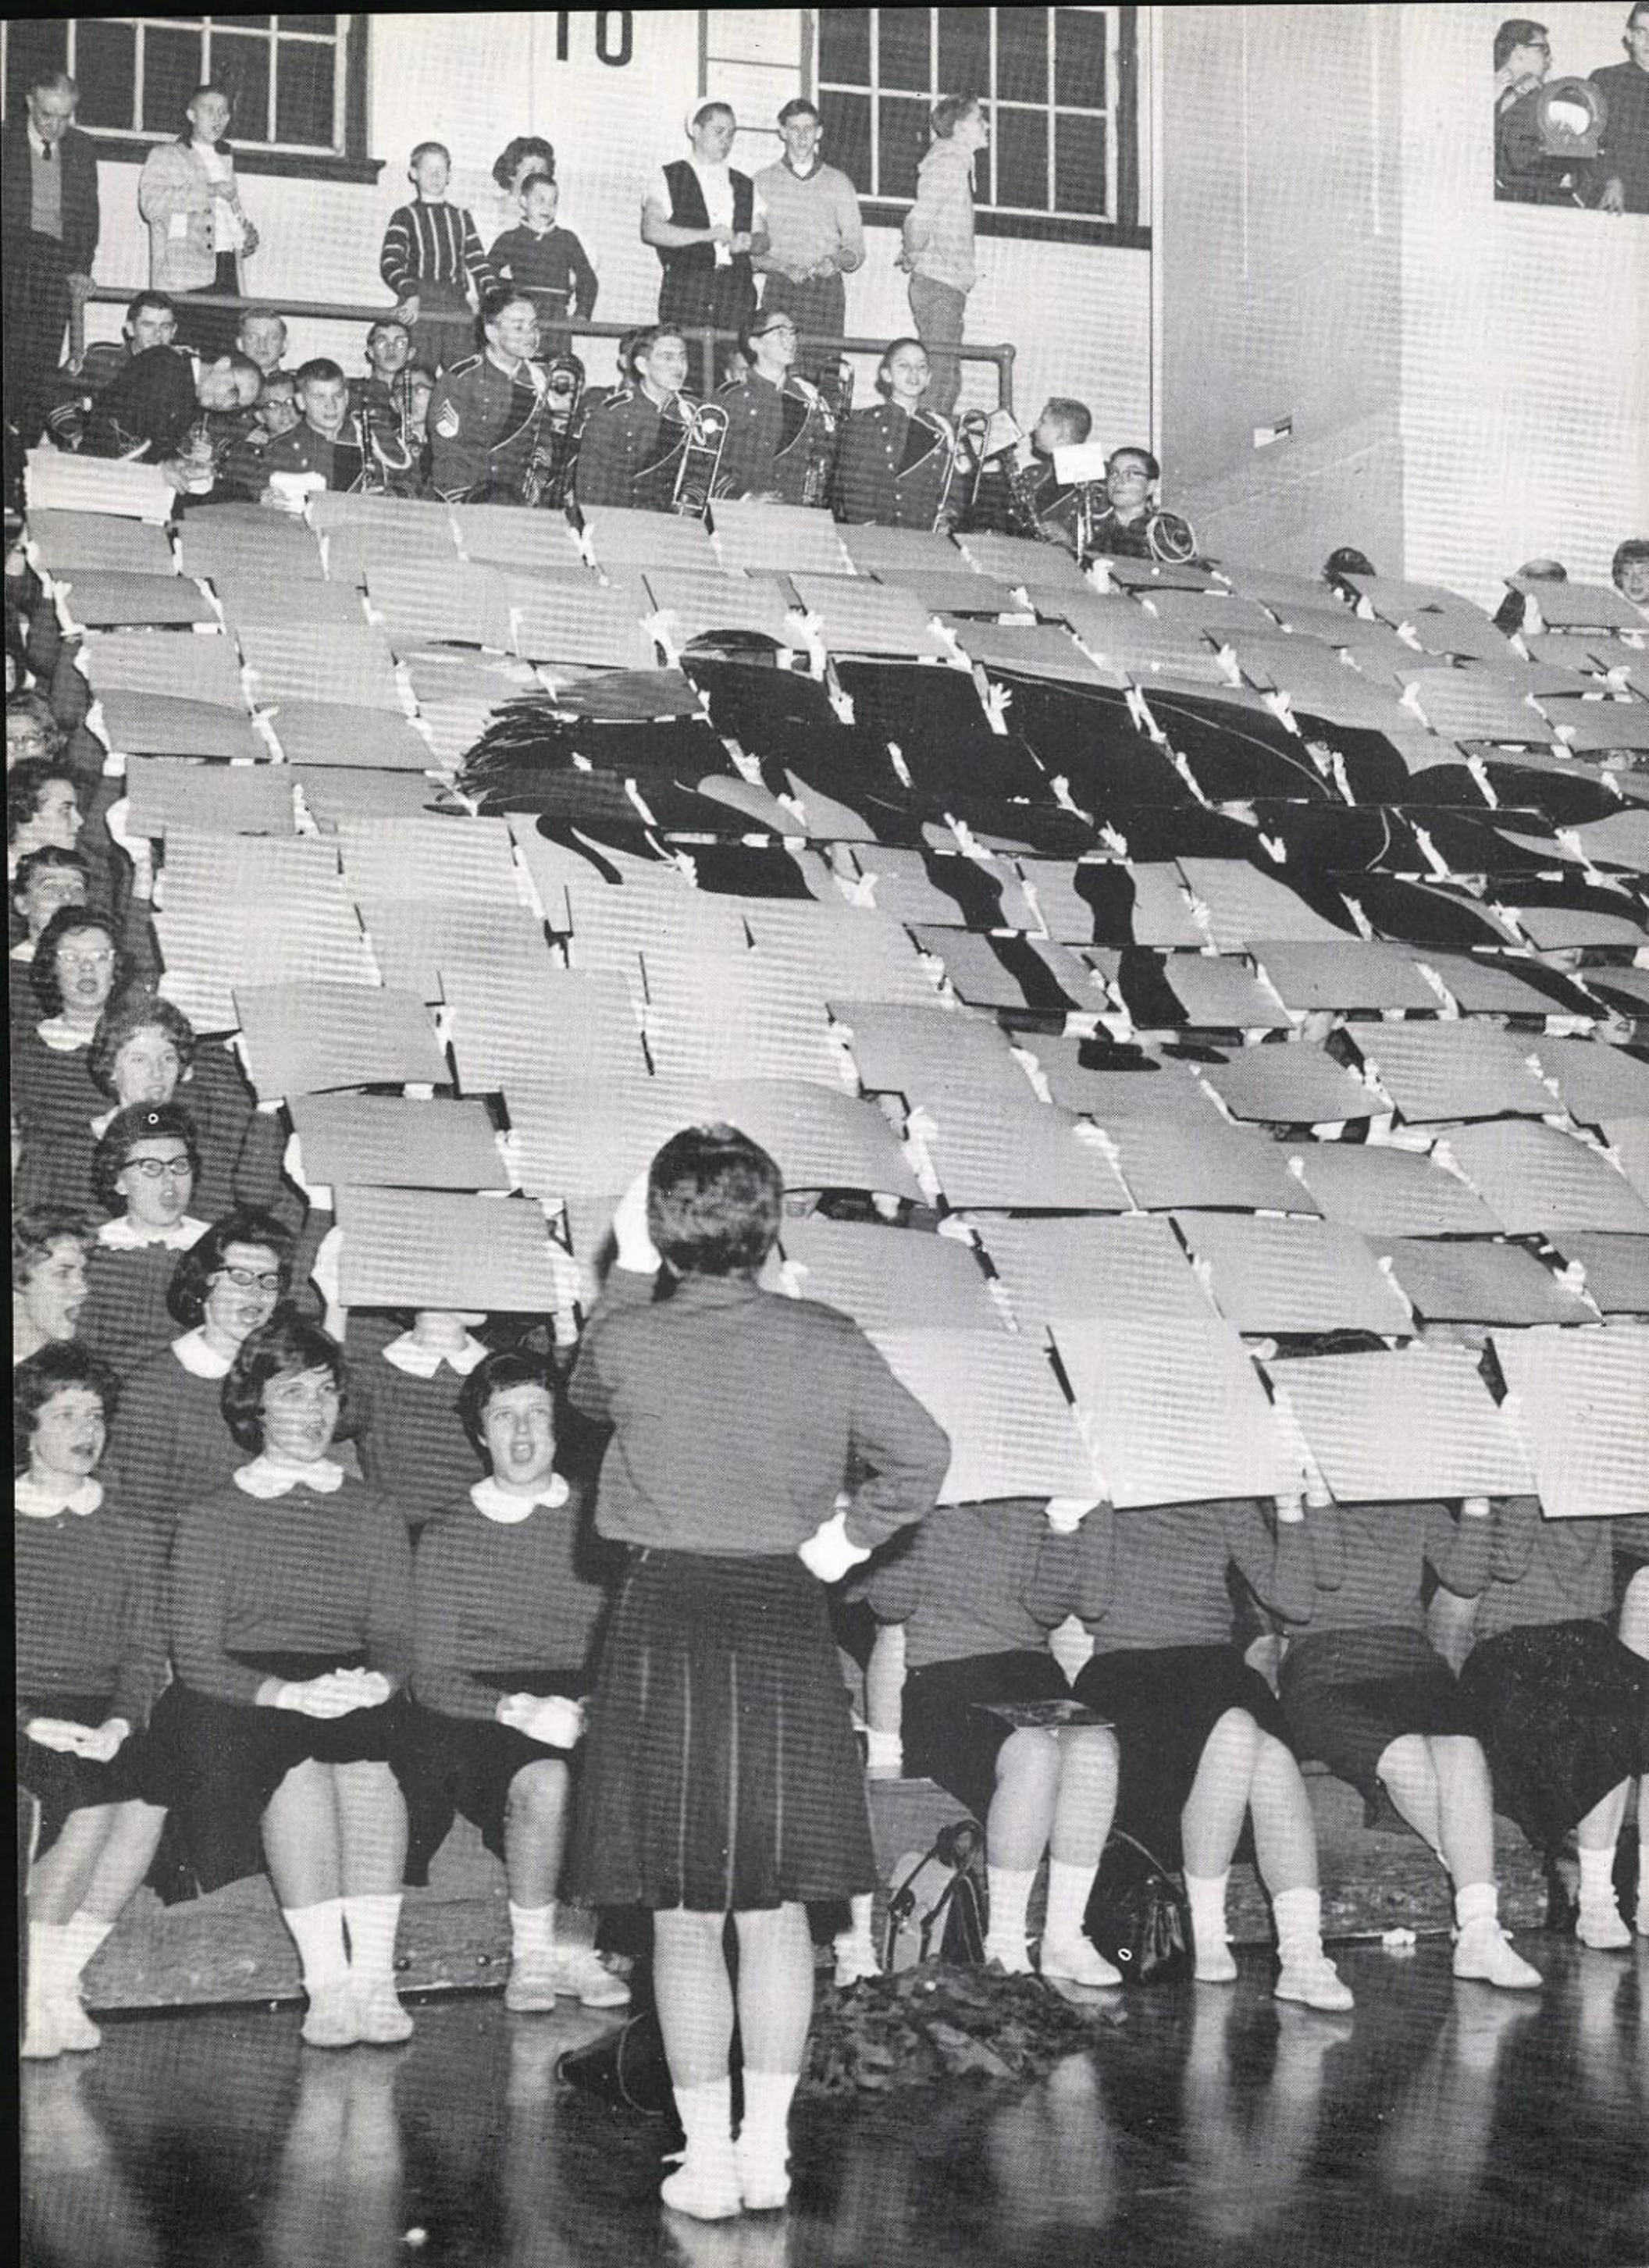
Woodworkers toil to design and create interesting trays, lamps, and book stands. Future "electrical wizards" wire lamps, connect batteries, and serve as "fix-it" men. Printing classes set the type for our school newspaper and print posters and membership cards for our organizations. Pupils in Auto Mechanics bring their cars to school to study what goes on under the hood; filtering is one service they give to engines.

Such practical courses as these enable our printers, woodworkers, and mechanics to serve the business world skillfully and efficiently.



JANET RUSSELL uses a T-square in order to draw a straight line in the mechanical drawing class.

IN MACHINE SHOP Fred Smith makes use of the skill he has acquired from the industrial arts course.



Participation in organized activities is the ideal way in which Jeff pupils can express their ideas and talents. Whether the groups' success be measured by a blue ribbon or a spirited smile from a crippled child, each group is another reason why

Jeff Excels in Organizations

Hi-Y Sponsors Holiday Convocations

Jeff's three annual holiday convos at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter were sponsored this year by the Hi-Y Club. At Christmas the club also joined the Sunshine Society and the Key Club in "Operation Santa Claus," a project to raise money to provide Christmas baskets for needy families of the Lafayette area.

The Hi-Y Club began the year's activities in October with the initiation of new members and a hayride. Club members decorated the large Christmas tree in the main hall. The club also held its annual Queen of Hearts Dance on February 2 at the Purdue Memorial Union.

The Hi-Y became a single organization this year, combining the sophomore, junior, and senior clubs of previous years. The boys elected as their officers Tom Heffner, president; Art Smith, vice-president; Jim Anderson, secretary; and Jim Hiatt, treasurer. The club was sponsored by Mr. Robert Leavitt and Mr. David Reeve.

The Hi-Y Club strives to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, the school, and the community high standards of Christian character.

Broadcasters Stimulate TV Interest;

OPERATING THE CONTROLS, Mr. Fraser watches Jim Anderson and Joanne Datesh as they broadcast news from Jeff.

A trip to a radio-television station highlighted the activities of Broncho Broadcasters. A Halloween masquerade party, held at the Vinton Woods Club, and a November hayride were other entertaining events.

Money-making projects of the Club included fall and spring clean-up projects. For these projects the members devoted two vacation days to washing windows, cleaning yards, hoeing gardens, and putting up storm windows for Lafayette citizens. For these odd jobs each member received hourly pay which he donated to the Broncho Broadcaster's treasury.

Since the purpose of Broncho Broadcasters is to stimulate interest in radio and television broadcasting, members of the club who were in Jeff's radio and television class this year operated radio station WJHS in nearly the same manner as a commercial radio station is managed. The Broadcasters also arranged programs at Jeff. These were then transferred to the WASK studio and transmitted from there. This opportunity to plan and broadcast programs gave the students experience which will prove valuable later in life.

Sponsor William Fraser turned the meetings over to Jim Anderson, president, while Dave Schaible, vice-president; Marilou Gerbens, secretary; and JoAnne Datesh, treasurer, assisted.

Key Club Participates in UNICEF

Christmas parties for the children of Lincoln and Wabash Schools and participation in the UNICEF drive at Halloween are only two of the service projects of the Jeff Key Club. Members of the club helped new pupils in school, and with the Sunshine Society it sponsored "Bundle Days," a drive to collect clothing for the people of the Appalachian Mountains region. The Key Club also took part in sponsoring "Operation Santa Claus."

The Key Club did not devote itself entirely to service projects, however. It sponsored a sock hop after a football game in October. The members enjoyed themselves later in the fall at a hayride and at a dinner honoring parents in May.

Dick Zimmerman was elected president of the club. The other officers were Nick Maddox, vice-president; Steve Carr, secretary; and Jim Mink, treasurer. Mr. Robert Finley and Mr. Milton Green sponsored the club.

FNC Views Life in a Big-City Hospital

MRS. GILMER and Marcia Vanderwielen check the equipment before Marcia takes over to test other students' hearing.

Mrs. Pauline Gilmer and officers Sally Smith, president, and Pat Wheeler, secretary-treasurer, led the girls of the Future Nurses Club through a year of study concerning the field of nursing.

During their study halls, the members of the Future Nurses Club aided Mrs. Gilmer, the school nurse, and became acquainted with some of the jobs required of a nurse. Members of the club conducted hearing tests and vision tests on other students and attended the health center when Mrs. Gilmer could not be there.

A visit to the St. Elizabeth Hospital acquainted the club's members with more of a nurse's duties. In St. Joseph Hall, on the St. Elizabeth Hospital grounds, the girls had a preview of operating room techniques. A field trip to an out-of-town hospital showed the Future Nurses life in a big-city hospital. Members sold a spray-on type bandage for a money-making project. In May the club gave a nursing scholarship to one of its members.

Sunshine Society Unites with Tri Hi-Y;

WRAPPING GIFTS for patients of the state mental hospitals are Cheri Ade, Debbie McAdams, Sue Munson, and Jane Heide.

The Sunshine Society, having combined with the Tri Hi-Y last year, is now the only girls' service organization at Jeff. The Sunshine motto "Others" indicates the type of activities in which the girls participate.

In September members helped new girls become acquainted with the school. Later they operated the balloon booth at the Home Hospital Fair. For Homecoming the girls sold chrysanthemums to help build school spirit. At Christmas they gave gifts to the patients of the Council Conducts Class Elections

To promote a better relationship between the students and faculty at Jeff and to demonstrate the principles of a democratic form of government are the main aims of the Student Council.

Early in the fall the Council sponsored Homecoming, a PTA tour of the school, and the annual class elections. In December it had a tea for the faculty. In May the Council held an orientation tour for the freshman classes of Sunnyside and Tecumseh Junior High Schools.

Bill Neher, Student Council president, conducted the weekly Wednesday morning meetings with Jerry Robinson serving as vice-president. Carol York was secretary, and Terry Fagin, treasurer.

JIM WILLIAMS and other Jeff pupils became familiar with the voting machine while electing class officers.

Presents a Benefit Performance

Jeff's chapter of the National Forensic League provided an opportunity during the year for many students to get experience in speech work. After a student had earned twenty-five points in speech contests, he was permitted to become a member of NFL.

Leaving Lafayette at such hours at 4:30 and 5:30 in the morning, members of NFL attended speech contests and debates in cities throughout the state. At Christmas the club joined the Music Department in "The Christmas Mood" and presented a one-act play. NFL also held service programs for Lafayette organizations, and in January it staged a benefit performance to equip hair-dressing rooms in the city's hospitals.

John Postlethwait was president of NFL; Dan Smith, vice-president; Bill Neher, secretary; and Janice LaPlante, treasurer.

Commercial Club Views Business World

AN ORDER for personalized stationery is given to Sharon Rupley and Patty Rohrabaugh by Mr. Finley.

Business and commerce are topics for discussion at the monthly meetings of Jeff's Commercial Club. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in commercial subjects.

In November the club's members sold personalized stationery, which was delivered in time to be given as Christmas gifts, and a Thanksgiving basket was prepared and given to a needy family. In addition to a Christmas party at its December meeting, the club held a faculty tea in April and a dinner honoring senior members.

Sponsors Mrs. Mary Jane Boyle and Mrs. Sandra Bettner advised officers Sandy Wilkerson, president; Carolyn Smith, vice-president; Karen Trout, secretary; Janet Leslie, treasurer; and Priscilla Martin, historian.

Library Club Displays New Books

A Book Week Tea in mid-November began the Library Club's activities for the year. In December the club's members went Christmas caroling, had a Christmas party afterwards, and aided a needy family. In the spring the club's members displayed new library books at a teachers' tea.

To earn money, the club sold ballpoint pens, in October and November, with the Jeff basketball schedule on them. In the spring it held a car wash.

The club, which was sponsored by Mrs. Margene Lewis, had as its officers Pat Sawyer, president; Mary Payne, vice-president; Charlotte McVay, secretary; Mary Murdaugh, treasurer; Pat Lyboult, historian; and Jane Haines, program chairman.

A.V. Boys Maintain Film Equipment

Members of Jeff's Audio Visual Club operated movie and film-strip projectors, record players, and tape recorders for teachers during the school year and gave preview showings of movies to teachers and students. They also showed films to any organizations who wished to use the library's equipment. The boys were responsible for the maintenance of these instruments and of the opaque projectors found in classrooms.

The club sponsored a mixer after a basketball game in early December. In the spring the Audio Visual Club members took a field trip to Purdue University.

Officers were Leslie Dolbow, president; John Hartman, vice-president; Alan Wesley, secretary; and Dave Phillips, treasurer.

DCE Supports Vocational Training

To develop a wholesome attitude toward the dignity of work, the Diversified Cooperative Education Club was formed. "D.C.E." promotes part time vocational training and provides opportunities for individual development.

Members of DCE worked at part time jobs in addition to their school work. To participate in the activities of the Diversified Cooperative Education Club, a student must have passing grades in all subjects.

An Employer-Employee Banquet in the spring was held to honor businesses which supported the DCE program. State conventions and contests were attended by Richard Criswell, president; Sandra Wilkerson, secretary-treasurer; and other DCE members.

Scholarships, Respect, and Recognition

REQUIREMENTS for entering the Elks Youth Leadership contest are discussed by Bill Neher and Mr. Levering.

Scholarships, which are awarded on the basis of academic achievements and results of scholarship tests, are offered by individuals, corporations, and organizations to encourage outstanding students to continue their formal education. Many members of Jeff's 1962 graduating class, as a result of natural abilities and long hours of study, received financial aid to be used for college expenditures. All recipients of scholarships deserve commendation.

There are further benefits of conscientious study: serious students are admired and respected. Honor rolls and academic achievement provide recognition for the better students, those who enjoy the self-satisfaction which goes with knowing they have done their best. Our country and the world need those who will work hard to train themselves for the future.

Five students represented Jeff in Girls' State and Boys' State, held at Indiana University. The delegates campaigned for state and local offices which they theoretically held. The elected legislators debated current topics such as segregation and passed resolutions they felt would be beneficial.

A demonstration trial, a civil defense lecture, and several speakers informed the students. Pamphlets on varied subjects were available to the representatives.

Students were selected on the basis of their leadership, scholarship, honesty, personality, enthusiasm, and compatability. Girls' State and Boys' State were sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and the American Legion, respectively. Local organizations financed the transportation and other expenses of the students.

Machinists Learn Factory Procedures

Representatives of labor and business concerns discussed their occupations at the bi-monthly meetings of the Master Machinists. To understand current industrial problems and conditions, the boys toured the United States Steel Company in Chicago and other industries. Due to the efforts of Mike Walker, president; Jerry Manion, vice-president; Charles Klinker, secretary-treasurer; and sponsor John Cokain, the Machinists enjoyed an interesting year.

The Master Machinists Club serves to acquaint industrial arts students with factory procedures. Members are also informed of scholastic qualifications and physical abilities necessary for success in the mechanical field. Members of Master Machinists are responsible for the lights, lighting effects, and the public address system at ball games, convocations, and other school functions.

"Voices" Sing Serious and Novel Music

MANY LONG HOURS OF PRACTICE yield excellent tone quality and harmony to sophomore singers.

The Voices of Jeff, a choral group of thirty-two girls, sang serious music and novelty selections for the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter convocations and the Christmas program at Sunnyside Auditorium. The girls also hosted the annual state vocal contest held in Lafayette. Members of the group attended the solo contest.

Every school day the vocalists rehearsed. The girls sang the best in choral arrangements for the entertainment of others in addition to personal enjoyment. Voices of Jeff members learned to appreciate more the various types of music and gained knowledge of musical theory.

Officers assisting director Richard Jaeger were Linda Walter, president; Carol Perrigo, vice president; and Sharon Jones, secretary-treasurer.

The best vocal students at Jeff formed the Madrigal Singers. The Singers' reputation for singing fine music made them popular entertainment for local organizations. The vocalists sang for athletic banquets, dinners, service club meetings, educational meetings, and civic functions.

ENGAGEMENTS are confirmed by Randy DeYoung, Janice LaPlante, Bill Bundy, Nancy Burke, and Rose Schram.

Set Rigid Qualifications for Contenders

Utilizing male and female voices, the A Cappella Choir created pleasant music with all of the various types of songs they sang. Officers Richard Pridemore, president; Ted Sheets, vice president; Nancy Burke, secretary; and Tara Balfe, treasurer, worked with director Richard Jaeger to provide the choir with an interesting and beneficial year.

Jeff's Christmas convocation and the Christmas Mood at Sunnyside included A Cappella selections. The choir caroled at the courthouse in December. Once upon a Mattress, a musical comedy, was given in April by the vocalists. A Cappella joined other Jeff musical organizations in presenting the spring concerts at Tecumseh and Sunnyside. The choir also entered the annual vocal contest.

The tour group, a part of A Cappella, entertained at the Van Orman-Fowler Hotel and gave an exchange convocation in spring.

Project Melodic Tunes from Music Room

The Girls' Concert Choir was open to Jeff girls with musical ability who could devote an hour each school day to the class. The seventy-six girls comprising the choir made it the largest and best yet. Although in former years the choir served mainly to train girls for more advanced choirs, the 1961-1962 school year saw the Concert Choir performing several times. The choir sang at the Christmas convocation and gave a concert in February at Sunnyside Auditorium. The girls also entered the annual vocal contest in the spring.

Becky Myers, president; Toni Anderson, vice president; Sharon Owens, secretary; and Kay Bogan, treasurer, worked with Mr. Jaeger in scheduling activities. The choir member who had made the most improvement during the year received a plaque on honor day.

Dance Band Plays for Mixers and Convo

Although records, television, and radios provide most of today's entertainment, "live" music can still be heard. Jeff's dance band played for student mixers and for the spring convocation given by the Concert Band. In cooperation with the Purdue University Variety Band, Broncho instrumentalists presented the jazz concert at Sunnyside Auditorium. The band also entertained spectators at the Home Hospital Guild Fall Fair which was held to finance an additional unit in the hospital.

Members of the dance band acquired experience and skill in arranging and playing jazz compositions. The musicians were advised by Carroll Copeland and directed by Terry Fagin, who was president of the Concert Band.

A ROLL-OFF by Don Rauch starts the pep band during a pep session.

Invigorating strains boom from the Jeff gym during any pep session. Woodwinds, brass, and especially percussion instruments strengthen the voices of the fifteen hundred Jeff students. The pep band furnishes this instrumental accompaniment.

In addition to playing for every pep session, the pep band performs at all football games away from Lafayette. The activities of the group are controlled through the combined efforts of director Carroll Copeland, band president Terry Fagin, and head drum major Robert Funkhouser. Members of the Concert and Marching Band are eligible for the pep band.

Although several of the musicians appear in both the pep band and the basketball band, the organizations are separate. The basketball band, under the capable direction of Bill Neher, plays solely for the basketball games.

Orchestra Strives to Acquaint

ORCHESTRA MEMBERS remove their instruments from cases before the daily practice.

The Jefferson High School Orchestra, under the direction of Carroll Copeland, appeared several times during the 1961-1962 school year.

Officers Jane Fink, president; Mike Taylor, vice-president; Grace Dankleman, secretary; Barbara Shonk, treasurer; and Pam Guenther, librarian; aided Mr. Copeland in managing orchestra affairs.

The Broncho orchestra extended season's greetings through music at the Christmas convocation. The group also presented spring and winter concerts at Sunnyside Auditorium. Musicians from Sunnyside and Tecumseh joined Jeff's orchestra for the Commencement.

To earn money, the orchestra sold fruitcakes for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Orchestra members joined the band on their annual trip in the spring.

The Concert and Marching Band's many aims included teaching musical fundamentals and acquainting its members with varied compositions. Terry Fagin, president; Bob Dimond, vice-president; Linda Traenkner, secretary; and Dave Kelly, treasurer, helped make the year a success.

The band participated in the annual Concert Band Contest, which was held at Jeff, and played for the Music Educators' Convention.

Feature Concert and Marching Band

A salute by the band was given to the flag before each home football game. A half-time show enacted by the musicians and majorettes provided entertainment centered around the various holidays for the spectators.

The Broncho Band earned first place for marching at the Peru Circus City Festival Parade. The Lafayette Christmas Parade, the Grotto Parade, and Purdue Band Day also presented the Jeff Band.

Preview of Teaching Offered by FTA

CADET TEACHER Linda Bender discusses a reading assignment with fifth grade pupils at Washington School.

The F.T.A. acquainted interested students with the opportunities and obligations of the teaching profession.

Following instruction, junior and senior members served as cadet teachers in several nearby schools. Cadet teaching gave students a view of teaching that would not otherwise be seen until the senior year of college. Progress reports from the cadet teachers were given.

During the year the club discussed educational television, cadet teaching, and college life. Student teachers at Jeff presented a panel discussion on college life. Members attended the state convention in March.

Officers were Billie Wyant, president; Bernadette Fairchild, vice-president; Rachel Daily, secretary; and Barbara Hawks, historian.

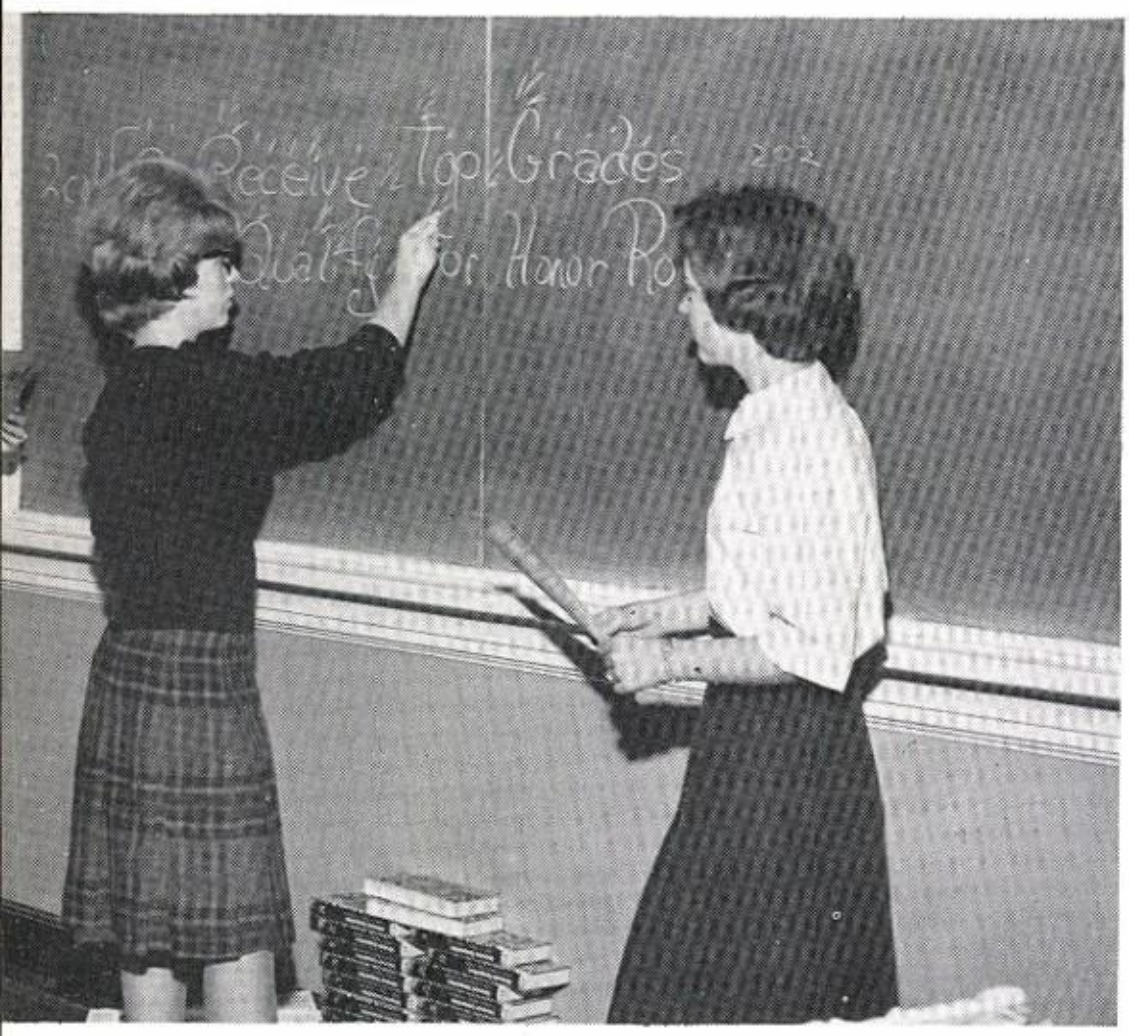
BRONCHO MASCOTS are removed from the center circle before games by Mike Taylor and Dick Zimmerman.

Athletes who had earned varsity letters for participation in at least one sport comprised the "J" Club. The organization strived to maintain and develop student enthusiasm and promote activities beneficial to the school. The officers—Tom Miller, president; Jim Dykhuizen, vice president; Jim Minniear, secretary; Dave Stormont, treasurer; and Ron Perigo and Tom Hays, sergeants-at-arms—upheld club policies.

The service projects of the "J" Club included escorting Homecoming Queen candidates and delivering Christmas baskets to underprivileged families. At basketball games industrious members kept the court free of spectators and debris. The boys also enjoyed a Christmas party and a spring picnic for members and guests.

Booster Staff Exceeds Subscription Goal;



NANCY WILSTACH AND JUDY GANSON count the number of characters in a potential newspaper headline.

Members of the Booster staff were responsible for the production and circulation of Jeff's newspaper, which was published approximately every two weeks during the school year. The Booster informed Jeff students of school activities, achievements of pupils, and current events. Opinions appeared in the "Letters to the Editor" section of the newspaper. Copies of the chronicle were exchanged with other high schools.

The annual Booster convocation, a mock Miss America contest featuring male members of the faculty, began the Booster's subscription drive. The staff's goal, seventy-five percent student subscription, was exceeded. In November several members of the staff attended the journalism convention in Milwaukee. A banquet was held in the spring honoring senior staff members, adviser Jack Hopkins, and others who contributed to the success of the Booster.

to Portray Story of the Year

To the tune of banging typewriters, flashing cameras, and swishing glue brushes, the eighteen members of the Nautilus staff worked and laughed together to complete the 1962 yearbook.

In preparation for the hard job ahead, co-editors Ginny Gould and Carolyn Fleischhauer attended the IU Journalism Institute the summer before the '62 school year. Here the editors made a replica of the Nautilus.

The duty of the staff was to capture the experiences, both in copy and pictures, for these pages. The staff consisted of a person responsible for each signature, plus a photographer, picture cropper, business manager, and two editors. Each person on the staff took part in choosing the cover and size of print for the book.

Lively Pep Sessions Spark Enthusiasm

Pep sessions sporting parodies about J Club members and the Broncho squads along with pep talks from coaches heightened the students' enthusiasm and sparked the team's spirits.

The lively music of the pep band accented the rousing yells led by our varsity and B-team cheerleaders.

Excitement prevailed at the Homecoming pep session as Bill Neher announced the five finalists for queen and as eager football players, anticipating a victory over New Castle, hung an enemy Trojan in effigy.

Boys Reign as Knights at 1962 Gallop

Boys donned their suits of armor as their girls escorted them to the annual "turn-about" dance, the 1962 Bronchoette Gallop.

The theme, "A Night of Knights," was represented harmoniously on the covers of the picture folders, the dance decorations, and the corsages.

The prize for the best corsage was awarded by Linda Van Sheppen to Carolyn Cooper for Jim Culver's clever corsage—a knight armed with a crested shield riding a Broncho horse.

Victory, New Queen Highlight Festivity

A thrilling football game and a new queen to reign over the gridiron created a gala atmosphere at Jeff's 1961 Homecoming game.

Members of the 1936 Broncho squad watched their alma mater trounce the New Castle Trojans for a victory of 48-6.

Enthusiastic spectators kept beat to the band's rhythmic half time show as they watched each queen candidate, accompanied by her driver and escort, make her debut on to the field in a new convertible.

The climatic moment of the evening came when Bill Neher, Student Council President, crowned Pat Miller 1961 Homecoming Queen. Other girls in her court were Marilou Gerbens, Sonja McDermid, Sally Jo Smith, and Pat Wheeler.

Loyal Jeff Enthusiasts Boost Bronchos

During torrential rains and brisk fall weather, loyal Jeff fans appeared at the football games to cheer their team to victory. Busloads of cheering students traveled to the out-of-town games.

Jeff spectator stand was a maze of vibrant hues. Fads such as fur hats, suede coats, and yellow cord bermudas swept the student section. Red and black crepe paper pom poms shook vigorously and a J.H.S. banner proudly waved when the score board tabulated more Jeff points.

"We want the Bronchos right now!" Eager pupils, who formed a path on the field for the team, chanted refrains of this yell while they waited for the team to storm through the victory banner on to the field.

Because of the fans' enthusiastic support, the Bronchos ended the season with a victorious record of 6-3.

Knowledge is acquired not from books alone; convocations which provide a welcome diversion from class are also educational.

Jeff's 1961-62 convocation series featured many stimulating programs and presented many noted individuals.

All-School Play Introduces New Talent

"My Sister Eileen," the story of two sisters who leave their hometown of Columbus, Ohio, and venture to New York to seek careers, was presented as Jeff's all-school play on November 9 and 10.

Linda Holmes portrayed Eileen, whose ambition was to become a model; Janice LaPlante played Ruth, whose desire was to be a writer. Many amusing incidents occurred when they took residence in a basement apartment in Greenwich Village. One time the girls' apartment was bombarded by a crew of Portuguese-speaking sailors; the foreigners, who caused a riot doing a congo line, were deported by the police.

Other sophomores, juniors, and seniors who added sparkle and showmanship to the performance were Dick Frey, Terry O'Connell, Lynne Leech, Bob LaGoy, and Phil Brassie.

Fairy Tale Evolves into Musical Comedy

A Cappella Choir's production of the rollicking musical comedy, "Once Upon A Mattress," delighted the audience with its mirthful dialogue, hilarious scenes, merry dancing, and music.

The story, based on the fairy tale "The Princess and the Pea," evolves around a small kingdom in the day when knighthood was in flower. The Minstrel, Randy DeYoung, charms the audience with the tale of the domineering Queen Agravain, Linda Holmes, and the diffident King Sextimus, Richard Frey, who are trying to find a "genuine" princess to marry Prince Dauntless, Marvin Smith. Sir Harry, James Lottes, hastens to the swamplands and returns with a princess, Janice LaPlante, who is given the test to prove her worthiness of the prince. To the amazement and joy of the court ladies and gentlemen, the princess successfully passes the test.

Intrigue Beckons to Beyond the Riviera

FROM SYNCOPATED RHYTHMS to dreamy waltzes, Les Elgart and his band kept dancers on their toes.

A world of fantasy existed in the kingdom of Beyond the Riviera at the 1962 Senior Prom.

Organizing the duties of each committee were Ginny Gould and Mike Douglass, co-chairmen of the prom. Under the supervision of Janice LaPlante and Terry O'Connell, the gym was transformed into an artistically decorated Victorian setting. Vibrant hues of ruby, luminous gold, and white reflected from the tiered crystal chandelier which was attached at the dome of the crepe paper ceiling.

Gretchen Ardapple and Tom Heffner coordinated the plans for the after-prom party. Black and white checkered flags denoted the decorations for the 500 Festival party.

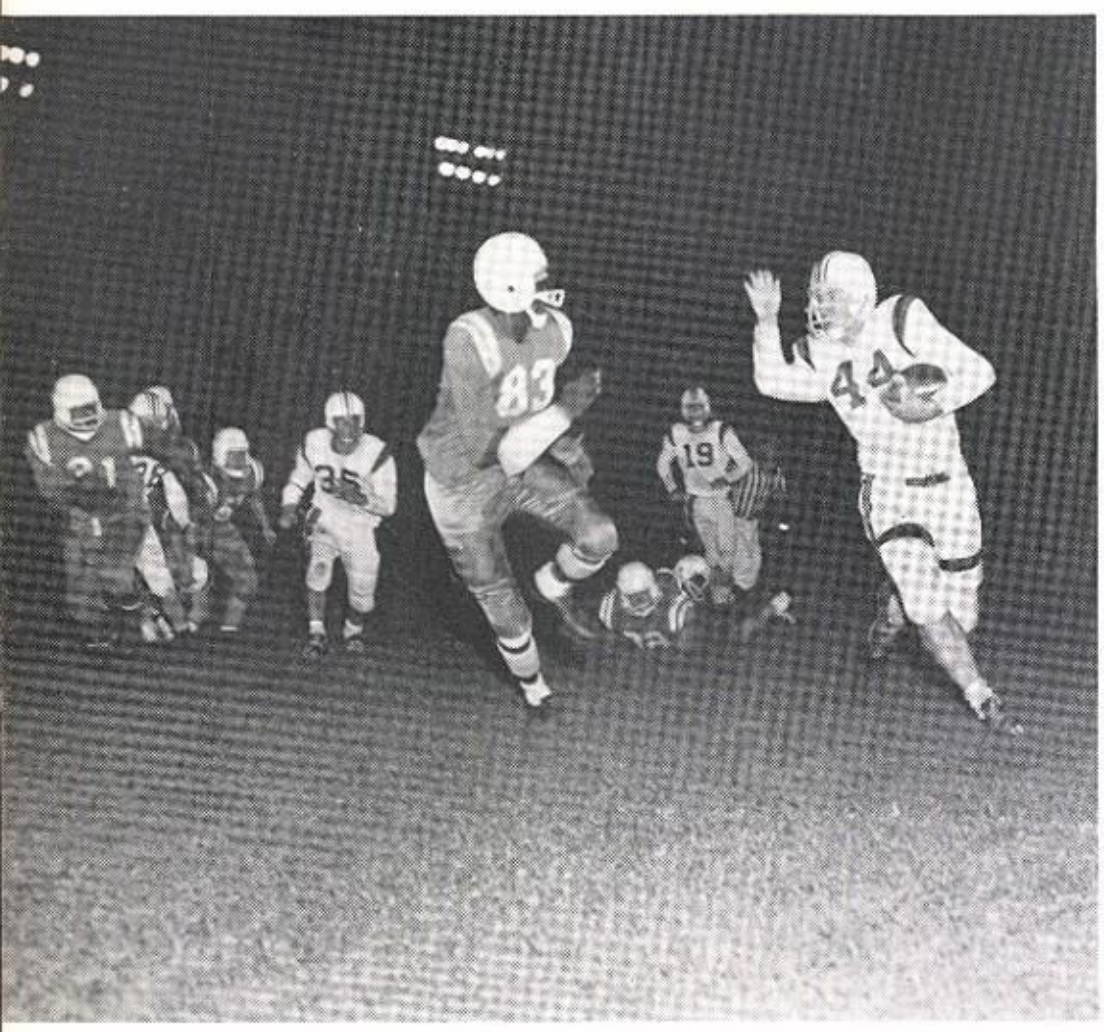
Three Losses Prompt Broncho Gridders



Ron Perigo cuts to the outside while trying to evade an oncoming Kokomo Wildcat.

Twelve returning lettermen, a host of incoming sophomores, and a new coach pooled their talents to give Jeff's varsity football team a 6-win, 3 loss 1961 record. While experiencing his first year with the Bronchos, Coach Pat McCaffrey was aided by line coaches Dick Skibinski and Norman Willey.

The Bronchos started the year off by losing their first three games to Lebanon, Frankfort, and Kokomo but then dug in and swept over the teams remaining on the schedule, which included Shortridge, Noblesville, New Castle, Crawfordsville, Logansport, and Muncie Central, every game being an astounding victory.

At the annual football banquet, senior Tom Miller received the award of most valuable player. He was later elected to the second team of the All-State gridders. Senior Larry Beall

Among the many outstanding players on the team were seniors Dave Stormont, who did much of the scoring for the Bronchos, and Ron Perigo, who was another chief scorer in the team's lineup. Other contributions to the team standings were sophomores Dick Lester, an important man in the backfield, and Mike McGreevy, a key lineman.

Colts Rally after Early Losing Streak

Boasting a record of seven wins and two losses, the Jefferson B-team football squad finished the season with a score sheet much like that of the Broncho varsity.

The twenty-two colts lost their first two games, but then went on to defeat the opponents remaining on their schedule. The team, coached by Harry Green and John Conley, practiced in the "dust bowl" behind the Jeff plateau after school.

1962 B-Team is First to Go Undefeated

Jefferson High School can expect to have another top team next year because of the performance and gains the B-team has made this year. The Colts played out their 1962 schedule of twenty games and finished up with an undefeated season's record. This is the first time in Broncho history that the B-team has performed such a task.

Golfers Compete for Low Score Tally

The Lafayette Country Club served as the practice green for the Jeff golfers. Although the team was faced with keen competition, they were able to finish their season with a job well done.

Coached by Mr. Sam Lyboult, the six Bronchos swang their way through a tight schedule and finished the task with five wins, one tie and four losses. Captain Dan Smith led the team to victories over Lebanon, Peru, Crawfordsville, Central Catholic, and West Lafayette.

The Broncho trackmen, coached by Earl Heninger, returned to the cinders this year and ended their season with two wins, three losses, and a fourth place in the North Central Conference. The Jeff-men competed against Southwestern, Ambia, Shortridge, Kentland, Frankfort, Attica, Logansport, and West Lafayette.

Although suffering many defeats this year, the harriers gave their challenging opponents keen competition by taking several firsts in the hundred-yard dash and the two hundred and twenty yard dash.

Paced by Ray Wyant's fifth place in the 100-yard breast stroke, the Jeff swimming team tied for twelfth place out of twenty-eight teams in the state championship meet.

The Jeff tankmen, coached by John Conley and captained by Mike Taylor, finished the season with one win and four losses in dual meet competition.

Three Jeff swimmers, Tom Rankin, Denny Thewlies, and Mike Taylor also gained recognition by posting record times throughout the season in the butterfly, free style and individual medley events.

Twenty-four Jeff boys challenged the ten pins of the Bowlmore lanes every Wednesday afternoon. The bowling league, sponsored by Mr. Richard Thoennes, is a charter member of the American Junior Bowling Congress.

As of February, Butch Cook had bowled the highest set with a total of 551 pins. Of the six teams, Dick Emery's group was in the lead with 28 wins and 14 losses.

Placing fourth in the NCC Tournament behind Logansport, New Castle, and Anderson, who were all tied for first place, the Jeff Baseball Team ended its season with 6 conference wins and 3 losses. In all of its contests the squad defeated 15 teams and lost to only 5.

Again this year the returning lettermen, Kenny Elming, Tom Miller, Jack Walkey, Dave Stormont, Mike Purvis, Dave Haun, and Dick Hays, along with the rest of the squad, coached by Paul Fields, held their workouts and home games at the Columbian Park diamond.

Caravans Add Excitement to Tourneys

"Jeff All The Way" was the cry of these fans on the way to the tourney.

Two extra long caravans of decorated cars marked the enthusiasm of the Jeff pupils during the 1962 tourney season. Before the regional and semi-state games, the Broncho fans were hailed by a police escort as they paraded across the Harrison bridge to the Purdue fieldhouse.

In the sectional the Broncho cagers defeated Montmorenci 105-44, Klondike 100-57, and West Lafayette 71-47. Pinnell bowed to the Crawleymen 84-69 in the first game of the regional. In the second the Bronchos whipped Rossville 95-81. In semi-state play Jeff topped Knox 66-41, but fell to East Chicago in a thrilling overtime, 67-66.

At a convocation following the tourneys, Russ Barrick received the traditional Dellinger award for his outstanding free throw percentage.

Enthusiastic Broncho Fans await the start of the caravan before the semi-state tourney at the Purdue fieldhouse.

Block Section Backs Broncho Five

MISS GRIFFIN discusses block section formations with Pat Miller, captain, Lynn Leech, and Penny Golden.

The enthusiastic cheers ringing from the 221 junior and senior girls who make up the Jeff Block Section backed the Broncho five throughout the basketball season.

These girls, clad in red sweaters and white gloves, followed the cheerleaders in greeting the opposing fans and in singing the National Anthem before the games and the school song after the games.

Formations during the year included a black block "J" on a red background and a broncho made from colored cards.

Assisting Miss Griffin, sponsor of the Block Section, in planning the season's activities were Pat Miller, captain, and Penny Golden and Lynn Leech, co-captains. The advisory board consisted of six senior girls and two junior girls who kept attendance and helped with planning the various formations.

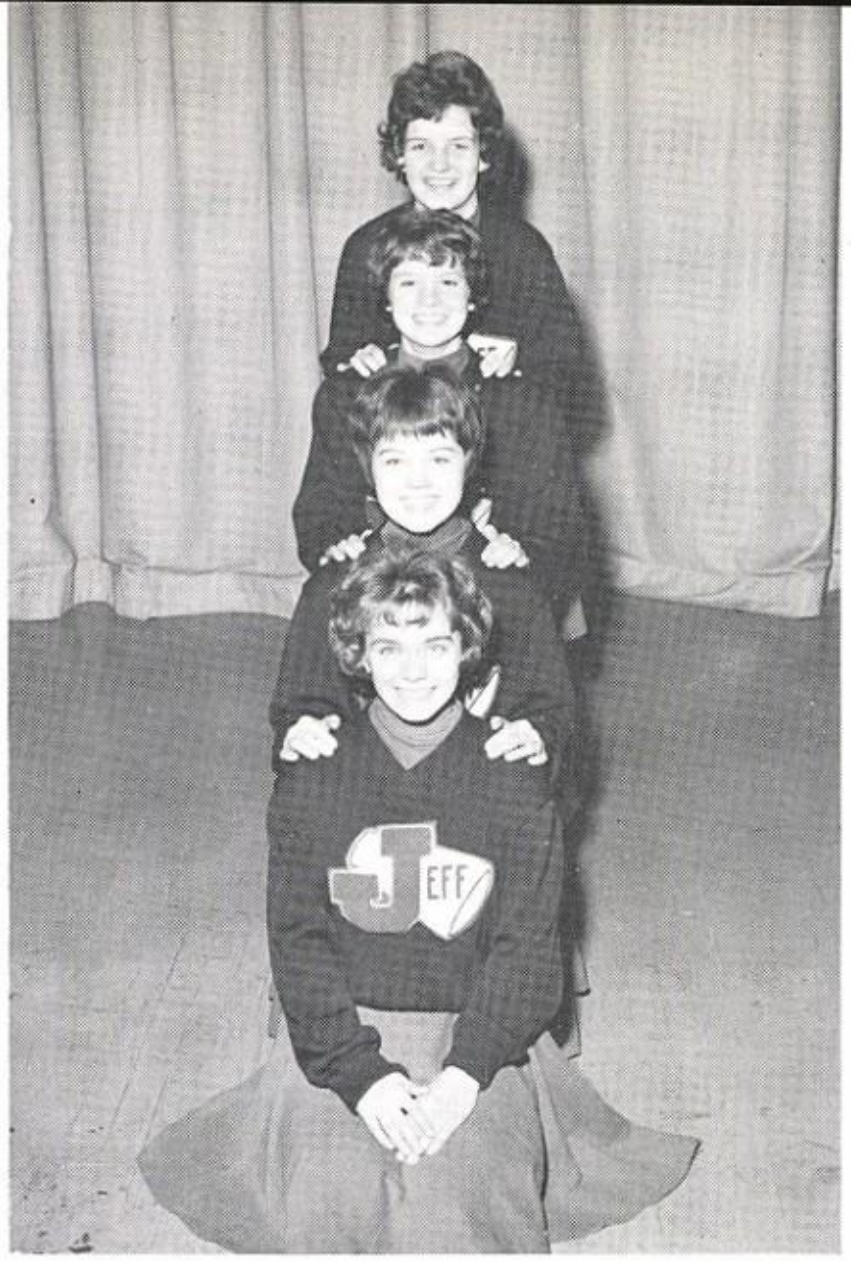
VARSITY CHEERLEADERS Janet Beckstrand, Pam Miller, Judy VonSeggern, and Sharon Jones, cheer the Bronchos teams.



B-TEAM BOOSTERS are Marcia Schweitzer, Claudia Miller, Debbie McAdams and Cheryl Deweese.

Cheerleaders Enliven School Spirit

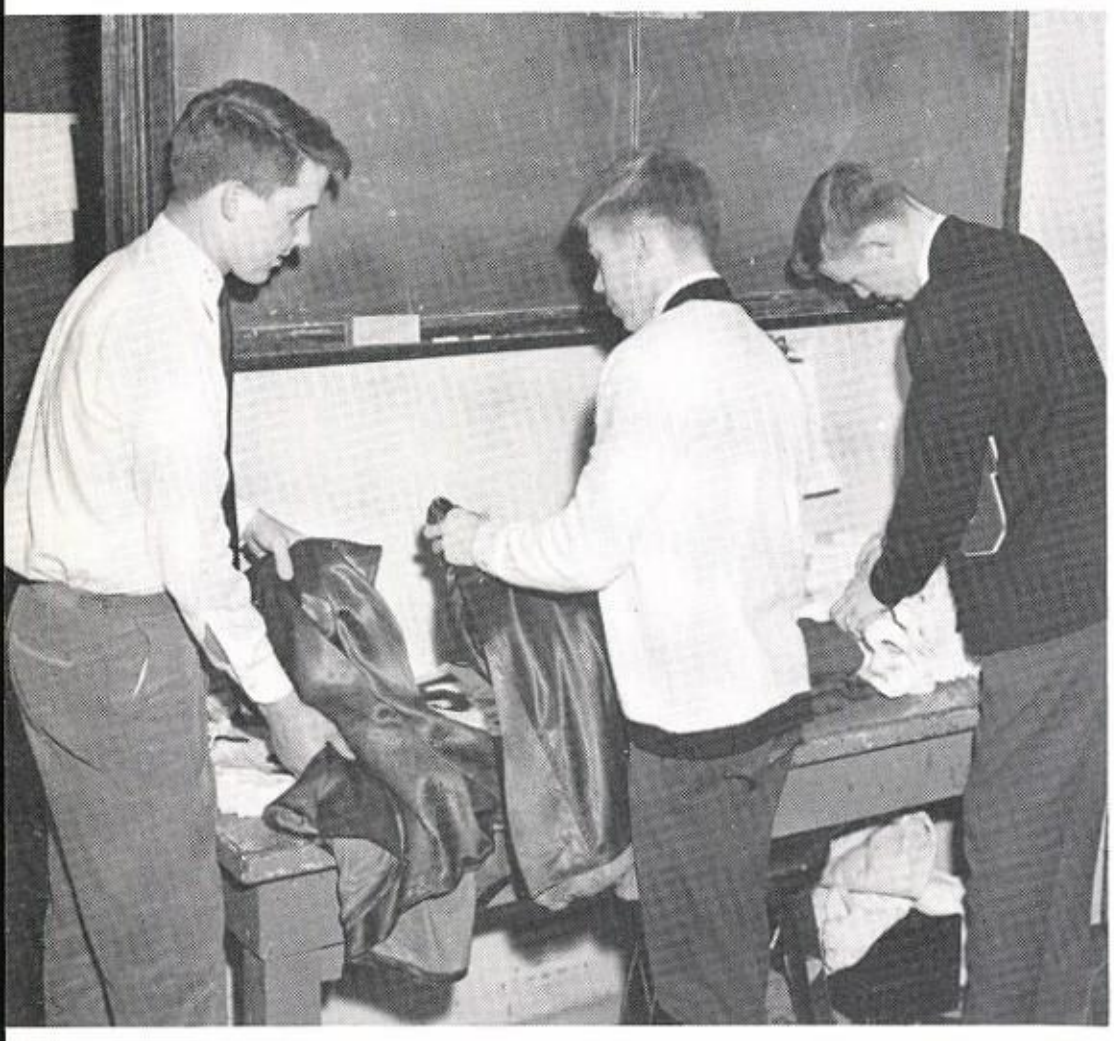
"Hip! Hip! Let 'er rip!" served as the Jeff cheerleaders' cue to start another of the familiar Jeff yells at all of the football and basketball games. These girls encouraged constructive team support and enlivened school spirit throughout the sports' seasons.

Sponsored by Miss Jean Hilkert, the cheerleaders and their alternates, Sandy Russell, Janet McAdams, Linda Buckles, and Sandy Mater, planned pep sessions, organized buses for away games, assisted with homecoming, sponsored a mixer, a sectional tea, and the annual yell contest, made Jeff posters for home games, and attended Block Section practices.

Helping with these duties was the Cheerleaders' Advisory Board with whom the cheerleaders met once a month. The Board acted as a means of communication between the student body and the cheerleaders.

FOUR SMILES, ready to explode with Broncho cheers, are those of the Varsity Four, Janet Beckstrand, Judy VonSeggern, Sharon Jones, and Pam Miller, captain.

Twelve Boys Assist Coaches and Teams



KEEPING the locker room clean is one of the duties of managers Bill Moorhous, Larry Mikels, and Jim Mink.

Coaches don't always have time to direct the many routine tasks involved in building winning athletic teams. Therefore student managers are essential. These students repair equipment, run errands, and record scores for the coaches. They also administer minor first-aid, when needed, and distribute towels and robes.

During the 1961-1962 school year, twelve boys served as managers. Bill Morehous, Jim Mink, and Larry Mikels assisted the basketball team. Managers for the gridmen were Bob Shaffer, Bill Morehous, Jim Mink, and Terry Traeger. Steve Dolbow managed the swimming team. Varsity wrestlers were helped by Bill Hicks and Jim Platt. J. W. Ramsey assisted the netment and Jim Beeker managed the golf team. Managing cross-country and track squads were Alistair and David Dyer.

PAM FRAKER challenges Lana Hague to a game of shuffleboard.

Group co-operation, good sportsmanship, and wholesome recreation are exercised by members of the Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Miss Jean Hilkert.

Social activities of the group included a get-acquainted party, a Christmas party, a formal initiation, and a spring picnic.

In October Miss Hilkert and two of the officers once again attended the State GAA Leadership Camp at Camp Tecumseh. The State Badminton Tournament, sponsored this year by the Jeff girls, was also held in October.

The group met twice a week after school to participate in badminton, softball, basketball, table tennis, volleyball, bowling, tumbling, and kickball.

The officers were Lana Hague, president; Pam Fraker, vice-president; Peg Knowles, secretary; and Carol Denham, treasurer.

Jeff Excels In Friendship

J. Russell Hiatt, Superintendent of Lafayette School City, must plan ahead for the increasing enrollment.

Indiana law requires that all cities with a population of 39,000 to 58,000 have a board of school trustees consisting of five members. These members are appointed by the mayor for terms of three years each.

After studying the school situation, the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. J. Russell Hiatt, makes up a budget and sends recommendations to the board. If this budget is accepted by the board, it is later used to help determine taxation rates for the coming year. The School Board then establishes the policies which will govern the schools for the year. The board also assigns faculty contracts for all the city schools. Any need for schools in years to come is decided by the board, which then approves the architect's plans and selects the contractor.

Supervising the administration of Jeff is the duty of Cecil S. Webb, principal. He makes sure that all those under him fulfill their jobs. Aiding him in this are V. D. Montgomery and Charles Martin. Mr. Montgomery is responsible for attendance and discipline, and Mr. Martin directs the various curricula at Jeff and the awarding of scholarships. Mr. L. W. Smith assists in coordinating the curricula.

Sponsoring class activities and scheduling students are jobs delegated to the class advisers. Mrs. Gertrude Krueger directs the sophomores. Robert Finley advises each junior concerning the course of study required for his future plans. William Levering, Director of Guidance and senior counselor, prepares students for graduation and helps them become acquainted with educational facilities after graduation.

The office staff painstakingly performs the duties vital to the school. The numerous tasks of managing the general office are taken care of by Miss Regina Schrader and Miss Mary Harrington. Serving as private secretary to Mr. Cecil Webb, Mrs. Doris Willis takes care of the money from all Jeff organizations.

Working in Superintendent Russell Hiatt's office, Miss Nancy Bogan, Mrs. Nellie Reppert, Miss Iris Palmer, and Mrs. Catheryn Askren handle all business of the school city.

Coach Marion Crawley's personal secretary, Mrs. Marian Howell, supervises the Jeff Athletic Office. Investigating questionable absences is the primary function of Mrs. Betty Torrenga and Mrs. Mary Jane Overton.

Medical advice and attention can always be received from Mrs. Pauline Gilmer, the school nurse. Mrs. Mary McDowell and Mrs. Frances Taylor plan the nourishing cafeteria lunches.

FILING IS AN ENDLESS CHORE for Mrs. Willis, secretary to Mr. Webb.

SECRETARY TO MR. CRAWLEY, Mrs. Howell manages the business of the athletic office.

INVESTIGATING SCHOOL ABSENCES is the duty of Mrs. Torrenga, an attendance officer.

MISS HARRINGTON, a secretary in the general office, is always willing to give any information to pupils.

ISSUING ADMITS is only a minor job of Miss Schrader, a secretary in the general office.

MRS. OVERTON, who works in the attendance office, keeps records of all absences.

MISS BOGAN is secretary to Superintendent Hiatt.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY Iris Palmer works in the superintendent's office.

'62 Class Reaches Highest Magazine Goal

Woe be to the underclassmen who failed to acknowledge the wearers of yellow cords. These superiorites, the seniors, had many happy experiences together starting with the back-to-school hop in September and ending with commencement services on June 6.

The class of '62 is proud to boast the highest sales in the magazine drive of any senior class in the history of Jeff.

Penney Day was another big event for the seniors. On March 24 members of the class assumed the positions of floor managers and sales clerks at the J. C. Penney store.

From a dream to reality, our Prom, "Beyond the Riviera," was planned by our class, enjoyed by the group, and then reluctantly packed away as the grand finale to our high school days.

TALLYING the total funds of the class of '62 are the senior officers Dan Smith, president; Marilou Gerbens, secretary-treasurer; and Terry Fagin, vice-president.

CO-CHAIRMEN of the magazine drive, Tara Balfe and Jim Boughton, figure which senior made the highest sales.

GRETCHEN ARDAPPLE and Mike Douglass anticipated a delightful Prom with a staircase entrance.

Wrapping Paper Sales Boost Jr. Treasury

THE PINE ROOM is the meeting place for junior class officers Karon Horton, Pat Lawrence, and Dick McNeely.

Juniors enviously viewed the apparently carefree antics of the upperclassmen and planned their own senior activities. Anticipating the cost of a prom, the eleventh grade pupils zealously sold Christmas wrapping paper. Profits from this and other class projects made the treasury of the 1961-1962 junior class larger than that of any previous class.

In February the senior math test was given to all juniors. Many college-bound students also took the National Merit scholarship test. In the spring juniors attended the High School Junior Day at Purdue University to obtain information about entrance requirements, curricula, and campus activities and facilities.

THE DAY LONG ANTICIPATED by Janice Jacobs finally arrived when Mr. Byers delivered the class rings.

Jeff Holds New Thrill for Sophomores

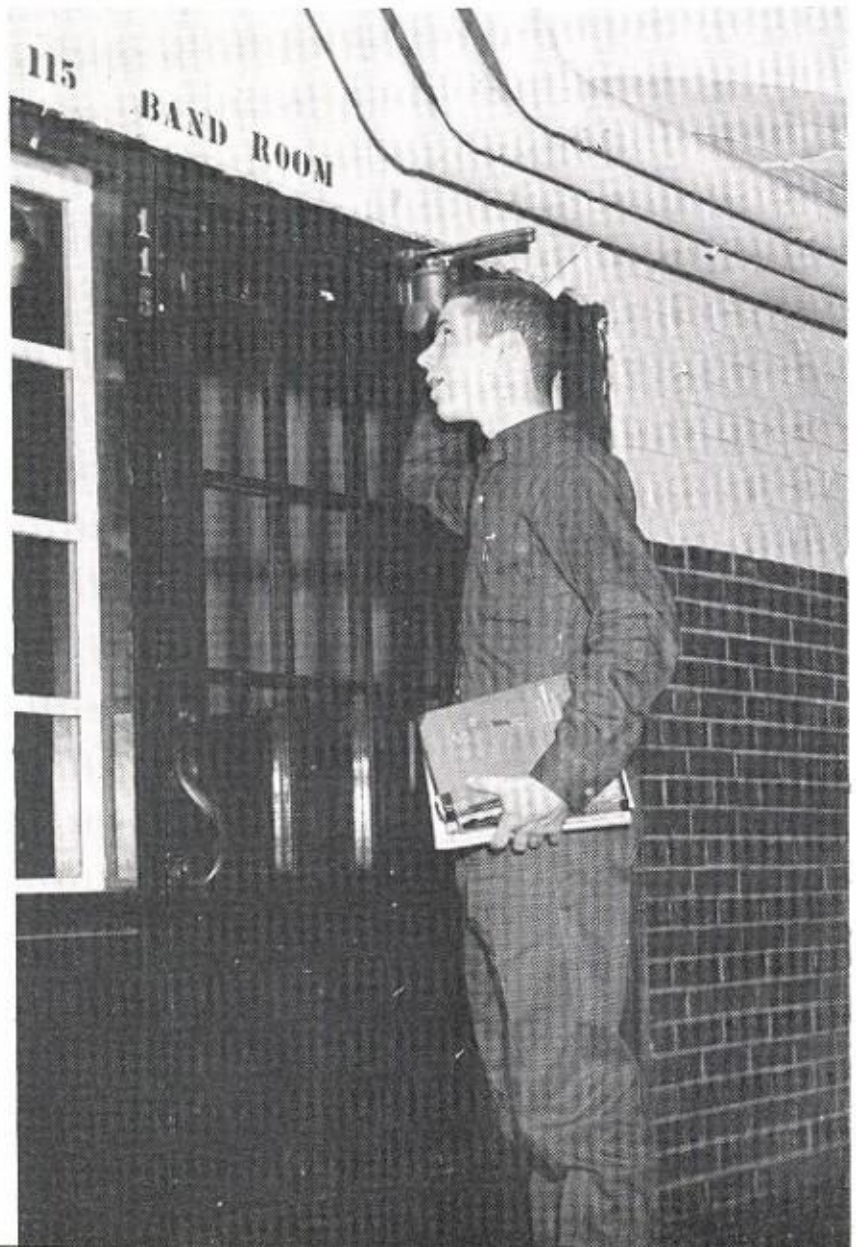
DISCUSSING SOPHOMORE ACTIVITIES are the class officers Cheryl Ade, Mandy Kienly, and Randy Slickers.

When the sophomores first entered senior high school last September, they began making a place for themselves in the history of Jeff. Having been the upper classmen in junior high, the class members had to adjust to the position of lowly underclassmen. An exciting sophomore year enabled these students to foresee the good times awaiting them in their junior and senior years.

As their first money-making project, the sophomores had a paper drive. This was followed by the sale of senior name cards.

Realizing the importance of having capable officers, the class members chose Randy Slickers as their president; Mandy Kienly, vice-president; and Cheryl Ade, secretary-treasurer. The class was sponsored by Mrs. Gertrude Krueger during their first year at Jeff.

SOPHOMORE BILL FLEISCHHAUER is confused when he reaches end of building without finding the right room.



SUNSHINE MEMBERS Devon Wilson and Sherry Snyder explain the club's purposes to Jackie Peterson and Sue Munson.

Acknowledgements

As the finishing touches are added to the 1962 NAUTILUS, the staff would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank those who have given their time and cooperation to make our yearbook an addition to the areas of achievement at Jeff.

The literary staff is indebted to Miss Carolyn Griffin and Mr. Sterling Jackson for the time and patience they gave us in correcting our copy. Gil Hutton of Photo Art, who took all our underclass and action pictures, and Phillips Studios both receive commendation for cooperating with us at all times.

The Haywood Publishing Company, who did our printing, gave our book special attention. Mr. Morgan and the Jeff print shop were always ready to print the forms needed to get the information to complete the yearbook. The S. K. Smith Company of Chicago, Illinois, deserves the thanks for the cover of our book.

Miss Regina Schrader and Miss Catherine Harrington sold subscriptions for us in the main office, and Mrs. Doris Willis handled our financial affairs. We thank these ladies for their extra work.

To Mr. Webb, the faculty, and pupils of JHS, we extend an additional thank you for their appreciative assistance throughout the 1961-1962 school year.

Tom,
Since you've come out from under the influence of Elsten, you're really made something of yourself. You've got what it takes for success, so use it. Keep up the good work in golf. See if you can't lower that score. Watch out for Sr. Week.

Toomi,
O.K. You asked for it! Here goes!
Where should I start? How bout the beginning! Last summer-cook-this whole thing starts out pretty bad but that's life! O.K. the accidental introduction (bonding-yous nouse etc.)
that about 2 weeks later I rate to date + Boy - I Just about didn't make that one - just because I didn't know what your papa did,
Ride shy now you! Yep that's me! Ya get me when ya told someone they'd be sorry us around.
If someone had told me then what would come off (doesn't sound ethical) I would sure have told them where to go - Anyways I got a chance to look around & now I'm glad of that cause I haven't had much of a chance since Oct. 14 (Virginia a Bell) We'll try it out & see how it goes - Long term - Bad start-
Good end - I hope! Back to the Beginning - Toomi got kinda mad at little mitzou - but I was having fun - at your expense - Then a nice

LONG PAUSE WHICH KIND OF MADE ME
MAD CAUSE I REALLY WANTED TO DATE
YA - LET GET THIS CLEAR RIGHT NOW - I NEVER ~~EVER~~ EVER DIDN'T LIKE YOU
WAS KINDA UNSETTLED - BESIDES WHO ELSE
COULD I BEAT IN TENNIS. DON'T WORRY
YOU'VE ALREADY GOT BACK AT ME IN GOT! THANKS TO SCHILLING AGAIN WE STARTED OFF THE SCHOOL YEAR WITH A BANG - AND VERY UNEXPECTEDLY
I GOT HITCHED! NO KIDDING THIS HAS BEEN THE BEST YEAR SO FAR - AND I GIVE MOST OF THE CREDIT TO LITTLE
OLE YOU! WE REALLY HAD FUN -
DANCES - JEFF PARTIES, GAMES - SHOWS
---------- ETC! YOU MADE IT ALOT
MORE PLEASANT BY JUST HAVING AROUND
AND NOT MAKING ME WORRY ALL THE TIME - ETHELS - NOT THAT I TAKE YOU
FOR GRANTED, BUT IT WAS A GOOD FEELING ANYWAY! I HAD PLENTY OF TIME TO CONCENTRATE ON SCHOOL WORK
BUT WELL - I DIDN'T DO TOO MUCH OF
THAT. I NO LIE I CAN'T IMAGINE AFTER ALL THIS TIME (7 Mo. 13 days) WHAT IT WOULD BE LIKE WITHOUT YA + CAN'T SAY
I'D LIKE TO FIND OUT. HOPE THIS TIME
NEXT YEAR IT WILL BE THE SAME!
I'M NOT REALLY WORRIED ABOUT YA
DURING SENIOR WEEK - JUST HAVE FUN. I KNOW YOU WILL - WHAT DO I
SAY THAT!? See page 15
